The Lost Girl By: D. H. Lawrence D. H. Lawrence, 2017-02-22 David Herbert Richards D H Lawrence 11

September 1885 2 March 1930 was an English novelist poet playwright essayist literary critic and painter His collected works represent among other things an extended reflection upon the dehumanising effects of modernity and industrialisation Some of the issues Lawrence explores are emotional health vitality spontaneity and instinct Lawrence's opinions earned him many enemies and he endured official persecution censorship and misrepresentation of his creative work throughout the second half of his life much of which he spent in a voluntary exile which he called his savage pilgrimage At the time of his death his public reputation was that of a pornographer who had wasted his considerable talents E M Forster in an obituary notice challenged this widely held view describing him as The greatest imaginative novelist of our generation Later the Cambridge critic F R Leavis championed both his artistic integrity and his moral seriousness placing much of Lawrence's fiction within the canonical great tradition of the English novel

Early life The 4th child of Arthur John Lawrence a barely literate miner at Brinsley Colliery and Lydia ne Beardsall a former pupil teacher who owing to her family's financial difficulties had to do manual work in a lace factory Lawrence spent his formative years in the coal mining town of Eastwood Nottinghamshire The house in which he was born in Eastwood 8a Victoria Street is now the D H Lawrence Birthplace Museum His working class background and the tensions between his parents provided the raw material for a number of his early works Lawrence roamed out from an early age in the patches of open hilly country and remaining fragments of Sherwood Forest in Felley woods to the north of Eastwood beginning a lifelong appreciation of the natural world and he often wrote about the country of my heart 7 as a setting for much of his fiction The young Lawrence attended Beauvale Board School now renamed Greasley Beauvale D H Lawrence Primary School in his honour from 1891 until 1898 becoming the first local pupil to win a County Council scholarship to Nottingham High School in nearby Nottingham He left in 1901 working for three months as a junior clerk at Haywood's surgical appliances factory but a severe bout of pneumonia ended this career During his convalescence he often visited Hagg's Farm the home of the Chambers family and began a friendship with Jessie Chambers An important aspect of this relationship with Chambers and other adolescent acquaintances was a shared love of books an interest that lasted throughout Lawrence's life In the years 1902 to 1906 Lawrence served as a pupil teacher at the British School Eastwood He went on to become a full time student and received a teaching certificate from University

College Nottingham in 1908 During these early years he was working on his first poems some short stories and a draft of a novel Laetitia which was eventually to become The White Peacock At the end of 1907 he won a short story competition in the Nottingham Guardian the first time that he had gained any wider recognition for his literary talents D. Novelist Frank R. Leavis,1968 The Rainbow D. H. Lawrence,2013-10-29 Like many of D H Lawrence s novels The Rainbow explores an attempt to live a fulfilled life within the strict social and economic confines of the British class system It tells the story of three generations of the Brangwen family Tom Anna and Ursula each rail against the limitations imposed on their lives with each generation finding more freedom as industrialisation creeps across England The character of Ursula who is seen again in Lawrence s Women in Love was particularly controversial Her tumultuous love affairs including one same sex liaison resulted in the novel being banned upon publication When it was made available eleven years later it was a commercial success despite continued objections about its perceived obscenity D. H. Lawrence Paul

Lawrence D.H. Lawrence, 2024-09-23 Women in Love by D H Lawrence is a bold and psychologically intense novel that explores the complexities of human relationships emotional intimacy and the tensions between individuality and connection As a sequel to The Rainbow it follows the lives of sisters Ursula and Gudrun Brangwen as they navigate love desire and existential questioning in early 20th century England Their romantic entanglements with Rupert Birkin and Gerald Crich serve as a vehicle for Lawrence to examine the contradictions of modern life the limits of rationality and the search for spiritual and emotional fulfillment Since its publication Women in Love has been recognized for its innovative narrative style and its raw unflinching portrayal of passion and psychological struggle Lawrence blends philosophical discourse with lyrical prose to critique industrial society and explore the deeper impulses that govern human behavior The novel's intensity and its exploration of both heterosexual and homoerotic relationships challenged the norms of its time and continue to provoke discussion The enduring relevance of Women in Love lies in its fearless inquiry into the human condition its emotional depth its exploration of power dynamics in love and its questioning of conventional values It stands as a key work in modernist literature offering a rich provocative vision of love identity and the often tumultuous pursuit of meaning David Herbert Lawrence Alastair Niven, 1979 D.
