Missing Links Jeremy Rich, 2012-01-01 Jeremy Rich uses the eccentric life of R L Garner 1848 1920 to examine the commercial networks that brought the first apes to America during the Progressive Era a critical time in the development of ideas about African wildlife race and evolution Garner was a self taught zoologist and atheist from southwest Virginia Starting in 1892 he lived on and off in the French colony of Gabon studying primates and trying to engage U S academics with his theories Most prominently Garner claimed that he could teach apes to speak human languages and that he could speak the languages of primates Garner brought some of the first live primates to America launching a traveling demonstration in which he claimed to communicate with a chimpanzee named Susie He was often mocked by the increasingly professionalized scientific community who were wary of his colorful escapades such as his ill fated plan to make a New York City socialite the queen of southern Gabon and his efforts to convince Thomas Edison to finance him in Africa Yet

Garner did influence evolutionary debates and as with many of his era race dominated his thinking Garner s arguments for example that chimpanzees were more loving than Africans or that colonialism constituted a threat to the separation of the races offer a fascinating perspective on the thinking and attitudes of his times Missing Links explores the impact of colonialism on Africans the complicated politics of buying and selling primates and the popularization of biological racism
