Naming the Gods Gary D. Astrachan, 2019-11-29 Naming the Gods Cy Twombly's Passionate Poiesis concerns itself with the contemporary art work of Cy Twombly as seen against the deep background of classical Greek mythology. In particular, the two entwined figures and images of Orpheus, lyre player, lover, and journeyer to the underworld, and Dionysos/Bacchus, god of wine, ecstasy, and madness, are taken up as the two principal thematic leitmotifs which animate and overarchingly inform Twombly's entire artistic oeuvre across all the mediums in which he worked, both literally and symbolically, from the early 1950s until the last series of brilliantly colored paintings he made just before his death in 2011. His preoccupations with the rhythms of language, poetry, and writing on the one hand, and his tendencies towards wildly expressive gestural abstraction on the other, ultimately combine in his creation of a genuinely new and original performative aesthetic which unites and connects the powerful impulses of mark-making, painting, and assembling with the basic human needs for individuation, realization, and redemption. In a long and rich tradition of sublime poiesis spanning ancient Greek tragedy through Romanticism, the poets Friedrich Hölderlin and Rainer Maria Rilke, and into our own fragmented and imperiled postmodernist times, Twombly's artistic corpus is viewed as providing a radically renovative relationship and practice for honoring, working with, and valorizing both psyche and matter, the inner and outer worlds, as well as with delimiting a uniquely generative and seminal space for the further enactment of creative human doing, making, producing, and being in reciprocal and intimate relationship with the otherness of things, nature, and the environment. Gary D. Astrachan, Ph.D., is a clinical psychologist and Jungian psychoanalyst in private practice in Portland, Maine. He is a faculty member and supervising and training analyst at the C.G. Jung Institutes in Boston and in Switzerland, and lectures and teaches widely throughout North America, Latin America, and Europe. He is a founding member of the C.G. Jung Center of Brunswick, Maine, and is also an independent curator of contemporary art installations and exhibitions. He is the author of numerous scholarly articles in professional journals and books, and writes particularly on the relationship between analytical psychology and Greek mythology, poetry, painting, film, postmodernism, and critical theory.

Cy Twombly Cy Twombly, 1992. Cy Twombly's oeuvre featuring paintings, sculptures, works on paper, and photographs displays a highly personal literary character but has undergone several profound transformations. The most decisive was the contact with Mediterranean culture caused by Twombly's withdrawal from the New York art scene; he moved to Italy in 1957. Greek gods, the Mediterranean light, Western history, literature, and mythology all found their way into his art. In ever larger canvases, he presents the drama of humanity as a sensuous and poetic vision of color, drawing, and writing. At the occasion of Twombly's 80th birthday in 2008, our four-volume Catalogue Raisonné of the Paintings is supplemented by a fifth volume covering the period 1996-2006, and thus, among others, his famous Lepanto and Bacchus cycles. Cy Twombly Simon Schama, Cy Twombly, 2004. Aggressively elegant, viscerally beautiful, Cy Twombly's work is, in the words of exhibition curator and contributing writer Julie Sylvester, fundamentally subjective truthful and uncompromising His work finds its most personal expression in his intimately sized drawings and paintings on paper Finding inspiration as much in the forces of nature as in ancient epics and legends and using the simplest of media pencils ballpoint pens crayons wall paint he creates poetic and archaic worlds usually in series and often as collages The 84 drawings in this retrospective organized by the State Hermitage Museum St Petersburg in 2003 to mark Twombly's 75th birthday were collected from the artist's studio and many had not been previously exhibited Dating between 1953 and 2002 the works embrace the entire career of one of the most important American artists alive today from the early monotypes to the major mythological cycles of later years revealing the many nuances of his aesthetic approach This revised and expanded edition of the catalogue created on the occasion of the presentation of Cy Twombly Fifty Years of Works on Paper at the Whitney Museum of American Art New York includes an essay by Simon Schama as well as a new text by curator Julie Sylvester Roland Barthes's classic 1976 essay Non Multa Sed Multum and a foreword by the Whitney's director Adam D Weinberg Comprehensive biographical notes and a selected exhibition history and bibliography have also been added to this edition Amazon.com

The Truth Is Always Grey Frances Guerin, 2018-01-30 Changing how we look at and think about the color grey Why did many of the twentieth century's best known abstract painters often choose grey frequently considered a noncolor and devoid of meaning Frances Guerin argues that painters including Jasper Johns Cy Twombly Agnes Martin Brice Marden Mark Rothko and Gerhard Richter select grey to respond to a key question of modernist art What is painting By analyzing an array of modernist paintings Guerin demonstrates that grey has a unique history and a legitimate identity as a color She traces its use by painters as far back as medieval and Renaissance art through Romanticism to nineteenth and twentieth century modernism to show how grey is the perfect color to address the questions asked by painting within art history and to articulate the relationship between painting and the historical world of industrial
