Cybertext Perspectives On Ergodic Literature:

Cybertext Espen J. Aarseth, 1997-09-11 Do the rapidly expanding genres of digital literature mean that the narrative mode novels films television drama is losing its dominant position in our culture Author Espen Aarseth eases our fears of literary loss at least temporarily by pointing out that electronic text requires an interactive response to generate a literary sequence Where s the fun if you have to write your own ending 21 illustrations Cybertext Espen Aarseth, 1995

Grammalepsy John Cayley, 2018-09-20 Collecting and recontextualizing writings from the last twenty years of John Cayley s research based practice of electronic literature Grammalepsy introduces a theory of aesthetic linguistic practice developed specifically for the making and critical appreciation of language art in digital media As he examines the cultural shift away from traditional print literature and the changes in our culture of reading Cayley coins the term grammalepsy to inform those processes by which we make understand and appreciate language Framing his previous writings within the overall context of this theory Cayley eschews the tendency of literary critics and writers to reduce aesthetic linguistic making even when it has multimedia affordances to writing Instead Cayley argues that electronic literature and digital language art allow aesthetic language makers to embrace a compositional practice inextricably involved with digital media which cannot be reduced to print dependent textuality Literatures in the Digital Era Dolores Romero, Amelia Sanz, 2009-03-26 The application of technology to information communication and culture has been through the history of humanity a key factor in social progress and well being Literatures in the Digital Era Theory and Praxis analyses in its twenty chapters the impacts of digital technology for the contemporary culture The literary system is being powerfully affected in three aspects In the first place computer resources have been used to preserve and edit literary texts associating to them graphical material links with related texts or with dictionaries and above all developing search tools of concordance and syntactic semantic analysis Secondly we are watching the birth of a digital literature with new generic characteristics new creators with knowledge of both technological mechanisms and literary resources and a reader capable of interpreting and enjoying texts on the screen Thirdly literary theory has expressed new postulates with regard to the multiple authorship of digital texts the disintegration of the textual meaning the intertextuality and implications of the reader in the creation process and the interpretation of the texts These three impacts imply for some authors the search of a new paradigm for the creation reading and interpretation of digital texts which points to a new humanism Agency and Media Reception Susanne Eichner, 2014-01-21 What happens to our sense of agency our general ability to perform actions in our life worlds in the course of media reception and appropriation Whilst considering media communication as a special form of social action this work reconsiders the key concepts of social action theory pragmatism communication theory as well as film game and television theory It thus integrates agency as the key to understanding doing media and at the same time conceptualizes agency as a specific mode of involvement across media boundaries This approach amalgamates miscellaneous ideas and conceptions such as interactivity participation cognitive control play or empowerment and applies the theoretical considerations on the basis of textual analyses of the films Inception and The Proposal the TV shows Lost and I m a Celebrity and the video games Grand Theft Auto IV and The Walking Dead Playing the Canterbury Tales Andrew Higl,2016-04-22 Playing the Canterbury Tales addresses the additions continuations and reordering of the Canterbury Tales found in the manuscripts and early printed editions of the Tales Many modern editions present a specific set of tales in a specific order and often leave out an entire corpus of continuations and additions Andrew Higl makes a case for understanding the additions and changes to Chaucer's original open and fragmented work by thinking of them as distinct interactive moves in a game similar to the storytelling game the pilgrims play Using examples and theories from new media studies Higl demonstrates that the Tales are best viewed as an interactive fiction reshaped by active readers Readers participated in the ongoing creation and production of the tales by adding new text and rearranging existing text and through this textual transmission they introduced new social and literary meaning to the work This theoretical model and the boundaries between the canonical and apocryphal texts are explored in six case studies the spurious prologues of the Wife of Bath's Tale John Lydgate's influence on the Tales the Northumberland manuscript the ploughman character and the Cook's Tale The Canterbury Tales are a more dynamic and unstable literary work than usually encountered in a modern critical edition First Person Noah Wardrip-Fruin,Pat Harrigan,2004 The relationship between story and game and related questions of electronic writing and play examined through a series of discussions among new media creators and theorists The Aesthetics of Net Literature Peter Gendolla,Jörgen Schäfer,2007 During recent years literary texts in electronic and networked media have been a focal point of literary scholarship using varying terminology In this book the contributions of internationally renowned scholars and authors from Germany USA France Finland Spain and Switzerland review the ruptures and upheavals of literary communication within this context The articles in the book focus on questions such as In which literary projects can we discover a new quality of literariness What are the terminological and methodological means to examine these literatures How can we productively link the logics of the play of literary texts and their reception in the reading process What is the relationship of literary writing and programming With contributions by Jean Pierre Balpe Susanne Berkenheger Friedrich W Block Philippe Bootz Laura Borr's Castanyer Markku Eskelinen Frank Furtw ngler Peter Gendolla Loss Peque o Glazier Fotis Jannidis Thomas Kamphusmann Mela Kocher Marie Laure Ryan J rgen Sch fer Roberto Simanowski and Noah Wardrip Fruin

CGDC Conference Proceedings Frans Mäyrä,2002 Prehistoric Digital Poetry Christopher Thompson Funkhouser,2007-06-24 Explores pioneering works of digital poetry and demonstrates how technological constraints that would seemingly limit the aesthetics of poetry have instead extended and enriched poetic discourse For the last five decades poets have had a vibrant relationship with computers and digital technology This book is a documentary study and analytic history of digital poetry that highlights its major practitioners and the ways that they have used technology to foster a new aesthetic Focusing primarily on programs and experiments produced before the emergence of the World Wide Web in the mid 1990s C T Funkhouser analyzes numerous landmark works of digital poetry to illustrate that the foundations of today's most advanced works are rooted in the rudimentary generative visual and interlinked productions of the genre's prehistoric period Since 1959 computers have been used to produce several types of poetic output including randomly generated writings graphical works static animated and video formats and hypertext and hypermedia Funkhouser demonstrates how hardware programming and software have been used to compose a range of new digital poetic forms Several dozen historical examples drawn from all of the predominant approaches to digital poetry are discussed highlighting the transformational and multi faceted aspects of poetic composition now available to authors This account includes many works in English and other languages which have never before been presented in an English language publication In exploring pioneering works of digital poetry Funkhouser demonstrates how technological constraints that would seemingly limit the aesthetics of poetry have instead extended and enriched poetic discourse As a history of early digital poetry and a record of an era that has passed this study aspires both to influence poets working today and to highlight what the future of digital poetry may hold

"Dazed and Confused and Triumphant" Natasha E. Gaj, 2021 Dazed and Confused and Triumphant is often the experience of both readers and writers of ergodic literature whose struggle to understand it becomes a meaningful accomplishment after they do Ergodic literature as defined by its founder Espen Aarseth in his book Cybertext Perspectives on Ergodic Literature is literature in which nontrivial effort is required to allow the reader to traverse the text Nontrivial effort encompasses anything beyond reading a text from front to back such as nonlinearity space subversion and multiple endings to choose from In this thesis I use the syllabus of a Fall 2012 NEOMFA Craft Theory course to design the hypothetical 16 week class Dazed and Confused and Triumphant as a way to teach myself ergodic literature and grow as an experimental writer The syllabus requires students to read and experience a comprehensive list of ergodic literature all throughout time ex the I Ching the Choose Your Own Adventure series and the video game Undertale write weekly essays analyzing ergodic techniques in these readings and create original ergodic literature based on what they've learned All of these assignments and more are completed and included in this thesis The thesis itself is arguably ergodic in its creation format and puzzle for its readers to solve New Media Poetics Adalaide Kirby Morris, Thomas Swiss, 2006 The first collection of writings on poetry that is composed disseminated and read on computers essays and artist statements explore visually arresting aurally charged and dynamic works that are created by a synergy of human beings and intelligent machines
