Czaaowiek I Zaswiaty Wizje Kar Posmiertnych W Polsce Sredniowiecznej:

Between the Devil and the Host Michael Ostling, 2011-11-03 Outside the imagination witches don't exist. But in Poland and in Europe and its colonies in the early modern period people imagined their neighbours to be witches with tragic results. For the first time in English Michael Ostling tells the story of the imagined Polish witches showing how ordinary peasant women got caught in webs of suspicion and accusation finally confessing under torture to the most heinous of crimes. Through a close reading of accusations and confessions Ostling also shows how witches imagined themselves and their own religious lives. Paradoxically the tales they tell of infanticide and host desecration reveal to us a culture of deep Catholic piety while the stories they tell of demonic sex and the treasure bringing ghosts of unbaptized babies uncover a complex folklore at the margins of Christian orthodoxy. Caught between the devil and the host the self-imagined Polish witches reflect the religion of their place and time even as they stand accused of subverting and betraying that religion. Through the dark glass of witchcraft Ostling explores the religious lives of early modern women and men, their gender attitudes, their Christian faith and folk cosmology, their prayers and spells, their adoration of Christ incarnate in the transubstantiated Eucharist and their relations with goblin-like house demons and ghosts.

The Slavic Religion in the Light of 11th- and 12th-Century German Chronicles (Thietmar of Merseburg, Adam of Bremen, Helmold of Bosau) Stanisław Rosik, 2020-03-23 In this volume Stanisław Rosik focuses on the meaning and significance of Old Slavic religion as presented in three German chronicles: the works of Thietmar of Merseburg, Adam of Bremen, Helmold of Bosau, written during the time of the Christianization of the Western Slavs. The source analyses show the ways the chroniclers understood, explained and represented pre-Christian beliefs and cults which were interpreted as elements of a foreign barbarian culture and were evaluated from the perspective of Church doctrine. In this study individual features of the three authors are discussed including the issue of the credibility of their information on Old Slavic religion and broader conclusions on medieval thought are also presented.

The Soul in the Axiosphere from an Intercultural Perspective, Volume One Joanna Jurewicz, Ewa Maślowska, Dorota Pazio-Wlazłowska, 2020-05-04 The essays collected in this volume form a multifaceted discourse on religious, philosophical, historical, ethnocultural and sociocultural literary and linguistic issues. A multicultural approach to the problem of the soul allows the presentation of it on a microscale focused on national and regional specificity as well as on the macroscale oriented toward universal values which can be observed in the cultures of peoples distant from each other in both time and space. The book consists of 28 chapters addressing the fundamental themes of human existence which find expression in cultural texts in both colloquial and artistic language and which have a prominent place in anthropological, psychological, metaphysical and theological debates.

History of Wills, Testators and Their Families in Late Medieval Krakow Jakub Wysmulek, 2021-06-22 This volume offers the first comprehensive analysis of wills in late medieval Krakow. It presents the origins of testamentary acts in the Kingdom of Poland and its centre Krakow and their subsequent transformation from so called canonical wills to communal wills Wysznuć discusses the socio cultural role of wills and sets them in their contemporary legal social and economic context In doing so he uncovers their influence on property ownership and family relations in the city as well as on the religious practices of the burghers Ultimately this work seeks to change the perception of wills by treating the testamentary act itself as an important agent of historical social change a tool of power Chrześcijaństwo kontra magia Jan Kracik,2012
