Daddy We Hardly Knew You:

Daddy, We Hardly Knew You Germaine Greer, 2013-12-13 Ferocious psychic need and volcanic energy drive this combined memoir detective story and travelogue from the author of The Female Eunuch The New Yorker After her father died influential feminist writer and public intellectual Germaine Greer realizes how little she knows about him She decides to track the life of her father an Australian intelligence officer during World War II to uncover the roots of his secrecy and distance As she painstakingly assembles the jigsaw pieces of the past Greer discovers surprising secrets about her father her family and herself During her three year quest Greer travels from England to Australia Tasmania India and Malta searches through scores of genealogical civil and military archives and delves into the memories of the men and women who may or may not have known Reg Greer Yet the heart of her lyrical but brutal elegy is her own emotional journey as the startling facts behind her father's facade force her to painfully examine her own notions of truth and loyalty family and obligation Kirkus Reviews starred review Anyone who has done this kind of search will identify with Ms Greer's frustration admire her persistence laugh at her accuracy and rejoice in her discoveries The New York Times Book Review The deeply affecting climax is a remarkable feat of family reconstruction Publishers Weekly Daddy We Hardly Knew You by Germaine Greer David Henderson, 1991 Daddy, We Hardly Knew You, 1989 Once an Australian Ian Britain, 1997 The four Australians featured in this book Barry Humphries Clive James Germaine Greer and Robert Hughes are all writers and performers who decided to leave their native land in the late 1950s or early 1960s and to pursue their brilliant careers abroad Ian Britain's profiles of their careers concentrate on the reasons for their expatriatism and consider what aspects of their Australian identity they have retained His is the first detailed study of this generation of Australian expatriates and richly combines elements of biography cultural criticism and social history Australian Book Review, 2001 Shameful Autobiographies Rosamund Dalziell, 1999 Writing autobiography is a risky business What is shameful can be inadvertently rather than deliberately revealed Yet reading autobiography can also be risky as it may lead to the confrontation of shame in ourselves Perhaps it is this element of risk together with the magnetism of another person's confession of shameful experience that make us such avid readers of autobiography Rosamund Dalziell proposes that shame is the driving force in many Australian autobiographies Indeed she suggests that the representation of shame is fundamental to the autobiographical process Shame seeks concealment and this she argues explains both why this fascinating link has not before been explored and why when it is pointed out we immediately know it to be authentic Shameful Autobiographies looks at pervasive patterns of shame in the autobiographies of such leading Australian writers as Germaine Greer Sally Morgan Bernard Smith Kathleen Fitzpatrick Morris Lurie Ruby Langford Ginibi and Robert Dessaix In so doing it establishes the centrality of shame to problems of Australian identity and to current political debate for instance it is shame that fuels angry repudiations of the so called black armband view of history The calm clarity of Rosamund Dalziell's writing strengthens her powerful insights and arguments the most potent of which is that autobiographical confrontation with shame can heal deep wounds both for writers and for readers This mature and innovative book will enrich the experience of all readers of autobiography
