Dh Lawrence Desire And Narrative:

D.H. Lawrence, Desire, and Narrative Earl G. Ingersoll, 2001 Modernism, Metaphysics, and Sexuality Debrah Raschke, 2006-08 Without question modernist texts have been haunted by what can be known or more aptly what cannot be known This position is foundational to one of the pivotal readings of modernism Simultaneously economic legal and political shifts that occurred during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries produced real material changes pertaining to the status of women Thus as many others have adeptly argued modernism is also a crisis in gender Modernism Metaphysics and Sexuality keenly suggests that these narratives the thinking of what constitutes truth and the rethinking of gender are intertwined Interpreting Conrad's Heart of Darkness and Victory Forster's A Passage to India and Maurice Lawrence's Women in Love and Woolf's A Room of One's Own and To the Lighthouse through Luce Irigaray's rereading of western metaphysics Raschke suggests that where there is a crisis in knowing there is also a crisis in gender Rhetoric Of The Unselfconscious In D H L Nakabayashi, Masami, 2011-10-16 In this study of the Lady Chatterley novels Masami Nakabayashi pays particular attention to D H Lawrence's language for the feelings and for the life of the unselfconscious sexual body The novels constantly find ways of verbalising the characters internalised experiences as they occur in states of unselfconsciousness Lawrence's language for sensual feelings and emotions has always been regarded as simply sexual and no previous critics have explored or made sense of the complexities of his peculiar but extremely sophisticated writing practice in the Lady Chatterley novels Lawrence was a habitual reviser of his work and despite the availability of reliable texts in the Cambridge edition few critics have traced the nature and significance of his changes from one draft to the next By examining and analysing the novels particular linguistic revisions Masami Nakabayashi reveals the textual impulse behind Lawrence's original conception and its subsequent change and development D.H. Lawrence James C. Cowan, 2002 Lawrence's work which was early read in traditional Freudian terms has only recently been considered from other psychoanalytic perspectives In this self psychological study Cowan provides a new and path breaking analysis of Lawrence The Oxford Encyclopedia of British Literature David Scott Kastan, 2006-03-03 From folk ballads to film scripts this new five volume encyclopedia covers the entire history of British literature from the seventh century to the present focusing on the writers and the major texts of what are now the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland In five hundred substantial essays written by major scholars the Encyclopedia of British Literature includes biographies of nearly four hundred individual authors and a hundred topical essays with detailed analyses of particular themes movements genres and institutions whose impact upon the writing or the reading of literature was significant An ideal companion to The Oxford Encyclopedia of American Literature this set will prove invaluable for students scholars and general readers For more information including a complete table of contents and list of contributors please visit www.oup.com/us/eb1 Narrative Being Vs. Narrating Being Armela Panajoti, 2015-11-25 This edited volume focuses on Anglo American modernist fiction offering challenging perspectives that consider modernism in the instances in which it transcends itself moving broadly speaking towards postmodernist self irony As such the contributions here discuss issues such as being in creation narrativizing being and creation the relation between being and narrative the situation of being in narrative time and space the relation between authority and narrative possible authority over narrative and the authority of narrative interaction between narrative and the other the authority of the other over and within the narrative and the inter referentiality of text and author Divided into two parts Towards High Modernism and After Modernism the book allows the reader to chronologically follow how authors relations to literature in general evolved with the changing world and new perspectives on the nature of reality This book offers an insightful contribution to the on going discussion on the ambiguities inherent in the concepts of author narrative and being and will stimulate intellectual confrontation and circulation of ideas within the field

The Short Fiction of D.H. Lawrence Janice Hubbard Harris,1984      The Woman who Rode Away David Herbert Lawrence,2006 In his introduction James Lasdun discusses the theme of liberation and the ways in which it is conveyed in these works Using the restored texts of the Cambridge edition this volume includes further reading a new chronology and notes by Paul Poplawski

BOOK JACKET      English Novel Explication Peter L. Abernethy,1976      The Religion of Art Karl E. Beckson,2006 Matthew Arnold said it best Wandering between two worlds one dead The other powerless to be born Late Victorian and early twentieth century writers were caught on this dilemma of belief or rejection of God Some took a leap of faith over those horns of doubt others rebelled but seldom completely It was in their art that some of the issues were joined and others resolved The essays in this collection examine six authors from Thomas Hardy to D H Lawrence tracing the arc of their spiritual quests from childhood to maturity which resulted in the artist s religious and artistic achievement that is the Religion of Art The priesthood of the poet for example was the Aesthete s belief that high art was beyond the bourgeois s understanding

An Introduction to Literature, Criticism and Theory Andrew Bennett,Nicholas Royle,2004 A new edition of one of the market leading texts for those interested in critical theory and its effect on our reading of the English literary canon Renowned for its accessible witty style the new edition is updated throughout and contains four new chapters to reflect the continuing development of the subject The key elements of this book that make it so popular are its clear highly accessible articulation of ideas the wide range of texts used as illustrative examples and its witty humourous style

Number 1 textbook on our Literature list Literary Theory Criticism is the only major core course in English departments every Literature student will study it A new chapter on Creative Writing currently the biggest growth area in the Humanities in the UK

From Primitivism to Post-modernism ,1999      The Ethical Component in Experimental British Fiction Since the 1960's Susana Onega Jaén,Jean-Michel Ganteau,2007 Some humanist critics contend that only realist texts have an ethical function that there is no ethical message behind the parodic and self conscious games played by experimental fiction and that since emotion neutralises the ethical faculties there is no ethical dimension in such excess peddling

postmodernist genres and modes as kitsch melodrama and romance Yet one may argue that the defamiliarisation imposed by parody metafictional overkill and sundry devices symptomatic of emotional paroxysm on the realist text involves some measure of criticism of received truth and makes for the practice of a non deontic ethics of truths that is also fairly often an ethics of alterity This volume examines analytical evidence for the ethical component in key experimental British novels from the 1960 s to the present with special focus on John Fowles Brigid Brophy B S Johnson Angela Carter Peter Ackroyd A S Byatt Martin Amis Zadie Smith Will Self Ian McEwan and Julian Barnes      The Writers Directory ,2004      Book Review Index ,2004 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation      Desire and Its Discontents Eugene Goodheart,1991 A study of desire and how it is represented in works of literature such as Conrad s Heart of Darkness Mann s Death in Venice Ford s The Good Soldier and Bronte s Wuthering Heights Also examines D H Lawrence and the tyranny of desire the Freudian narrative and the case of Jacques Lacan and postmodern meditations on the self      Encounters in Language and Literature ,1993      Beyond the Heroic "I" Stephen P. Clifford,1998 Through narrative and gender theories this study deconstructs the gender based assumptions we make in reading narratives and Clifford focuses by way of example on the critical responses that have narrowly defined the fiction of D H Lawrence and Ernest Hemingway during the past 60 years Hemingway and Lawrence have been rigidly defined by formalists and feminists alike as overbearingly masculine and as a result many critical readers dismiss their fiction as rather finite in its interpretive possibilities In addressing the gender based assumptions made by readers of these modernist writers this study re evaluates the narrative desire of characters like Brett Ashley and Frederic Henry Ursula Brangwen and Connie Chatterley as they respond to the heroic centers of their narratives whether those centers are characters who inhabit the novel or critical readers who enforce limited reading strategies By responding to the critical legacy surrounding these modernist texts he reveals ways in which these novels and stories actually deny the limitations of a codified heroic narrative      Narrative Feminine Identity and the Appearance of Woman in Some of the Shorter Fiction of Goethe, Kleist, Hawthorne and James Laura Martin,2000 This study shows how Goethe s Die pilgernde Torin Kleist s Die Marquise von O Hawthorne s The Scarlet Letter and James Daisy Miller can appeal to the reader who identifies a message friendly towards woman and her plight whether the message was the author s intention or not      American Book Publishing Record ,2001
