Second Language Reading and Vocabulary Learning Thomas Huckin,Margot Haynes,James Coady,1993 Reading ability and vocabulary knowledge are two of the most important components of performance in a second language especially in academic settings Each depend on the other as vocabulary knowledge is the single most important factor in reading comprehension while reading is the single most important means by which intermediate and advanced learners acquire new words This symbiotic relationship is the subject of this volume The authors argue that building vocabulary through reading is a fruitful but complex activity that needs better understanding and more careful guidance This book is unique in its emphases on original research Eight of the 14 chapters are empirical studies published for the first time including classroom

based case studies experimental research and think aloud protocol analysis In every chapter consideration is given to the pedagogical implications and possible applications of the research findings Lengthy editorial comments at the end of each chapter reinforce this practical concern Research in Reading and Writing Makhan Lal Tickoo,1994 Constructing Professional Discourse Concepción Orna-Montesinos,2012 This book explores the fascinating role that language plays in the construction of non verbal objects by mapping out the ontological meaning of the specialised concepts and the domain specific knowledge embedded in them In doing so it provides a comprehensive linguistic insight into the discourse of professional domain specific communities and hence into the communication practices and procedures of those communities In this respect the book offers a response to the claims made by many of the most influential applied linguists today such as Vijay Bhatia 1993 2004 John Swales 1990 2004 or Ken Hyland 2002 among others who have consistently defended the need for applied linguistic research into the textual generic and social perspectives on the under researched interrelatedness of the discoursal and professional practices of a discipline Specifically this book provides readers with an integrative multi perspective approach to the study of professional domain specific discourses While it mainly draws on the tenets of genre theory and discourse semantics it also nurtures from the theoretical and empirical foundations of applied linguistics cognitive linguistics corpus linguistics and ontological engineering The book starts from the analysis of domain specific texts as final written products with specific lexico grammatical semantic and rhetorical features to later enquire into the written products as textual artefacts closely linked to the social context of production and interpretation of the text This integrative approach provides fresh new insights into the way the processes of writing are affected by the community specific institutional and socio historical circumstances in which domain specific texts are produced Philologica Pragensia ,1988 Journal of Pan-Pacific Association of Applied Linguistics ,2002 RELC Journal Regional English Language Centre,1992
