Text & Talk Srikant Sarangi, 2007 56th Yearbook of the National Reading Conference, 2007 A Lifetime of English Studies Fiona Dalziel, Sara Gesuato, Maria Teresa Musacchio, 2012 Language and New Media Charley

Rowe, Eva Lia Wyss, 2009 The public's increasing engagement in Internet communication has generated new academic interest in the effects of technological mediation on language change. The interest has resulted in an expansion of theoretical reflection on language change within a mediated communication reality, a new focus of linguistic research and specialized forms of historical linguistics. This qualitative and quantitative historical media linguistics volume is focused on the description of multimodal change, stylistic variation and the transformation of cultural practices and norms beyond traditional written and oral texts to digital electronic texts of varying types. To address these topics, this volume brings together researchers analyzing a wide variety of communication media: blogs, email, fax, IRC, chat, IM, text messaging, SMS, loveletters, post and e-cards, telephone, radio, television and website literacies such as homepage texts, Wikipedia entries and website hypertextuality. The result is a volume that investigates the emergence of newer media, language change in the new media context and issues related to the connection between newer media and older media. Thus it offers a unique perspective on the theme of linguistic and cultural change in the context of technological evolutions. Identity in (Inter)action Sigrid

Norris, 2011-07-27 In this monograph, the author offers a new way of examining the much-discussed notion of identity through the theoretical and methodological approach called multimodal interaction analysis. Moving beyond a traditional discourse analysis focus on spoken language, this book expands our understanding of identity construction by looking both at language and its intersection with such paralinguistic features as gesture as well as how we use space in interaction. The author illustrates this new approach through an extended ethnographic study of two women living in Germany. Examples of their everyday interactions elucidate how multimodal interaction analysis can be used to extend our understanding of how identity is produced and negotiated in context from a more holistic point of view. Australian Review of Applied Linguistics, 2004
