Document Supply Centre, 2001 Meeting the Innovation Challenge Scott Isaksen, Joseph Tidd, 2006-06-26 Meeting the Innovation Challenge offers a new way to look at creative leadership that integrates both leadership and management This book also provides the student key insights into a new and more systematic way to manage transformation As a result the student will be able to discover a full range of potential outcomes from their change efforts from radical new to the world transformation to incremental improvements Since people are at the heart of any transformation issue Meeting the Innovation Challenge includes helpful information on the various roles required to initiate and sustain change efforts Many change initiatives use teams so specific tools are outlined to create and manage teamwork for transformation Those who lead and manage organizations have too many change methods from which to choose This book offers practical advice on how to select and manage a variety of change methods as well as a helpful selected list of many of the methods available from which to choose An example is drawn and explained from the area of new product or service development An often overlooked element of climate and context is also addressed Successful innovation change and transformation require an environment in which people are ready willing and able to initiate and sustain change Meeting the Innovation Challenge addresses this area by clarifying the differences between culture and climate and then offering practical ways to understand and create the climate for transformation

Helping Leaders Take Effective Action Dianne P. Young, Nancy M. Dixon, 1996 In 1991 the Center for Creative Leadership CCL launched its LeaderLab program with the goal of helping executives take more effective action in their leadership situations This publication presents findings of a program evaluation that explored whether program participants took more effective action in their leadership situations Data were obtained from a questionnaire of 29 participants and 38 nonparticipants telephone interviews with 27 participants their coworkers and process advisors and telephone interviews with 32 participants The questionnaire indicated that participants were perceived as having made significant positive change on every category except balance and that this positive change was associated with increased effectiveness The first set of telephone interviews showed that participants took the most action in the following areas interpersonal relationships organizational systems coping with emotional disequilibrium facilitating communication listening sense of purpose vision and balance family The control group made fewer changes than did the program participants The second set of telephone interviews showed that participants favored the assistance of the process advisor the program s structure the visioning and action planning exercises the diversity of participants and the artistic activities An unexpected finding was that many participants came to the program with a reasonable amount of turbulence in their personal and work lives They reported four types of turbulence that affected their ability to carry out action plans general work related job specific personal and psychological Participants approached implementation from three different models goal focus vision focus and process focus Ten tables 2 figures a list of CCL publications an index and an appendix containing further information on outcome studies are included Contains 37 references LMI

The Realities of Management Promotion Marian N. Ruderman, Patricia J. Ohlott, 1994 Promotions are among the most significant rewards a manager can receive They are also important events for an organization Yet little is known about what goes into the actual promotion decision This report documents a study of how the promotion decisions of senior level employees in three Fortune 500 companies were actually made A clearer picture is gained through interviews with those involved in the process and through access to performance appraisals and succession planning documents

Selection at the Top Valerie I. Sessa, Richard J. Campbell, 1997 In this era of rapidly changing organizational environments the task of executive selection is critical Practitioners clearly need help with such essential questions as What does it mean to be successful in today s organizations

How can we select executives who are more likely to perform successfully in them This book seeks to address those questions by providing an introduction to what recent literature says about selection at the top of organizations chief executive officer and two levels down and how it relates to the selected executive s success and to the organizational goals The book contains an annotated bibliography of over 100 sources of the literature on executive selection The annotations are organized to provide information about selection at the top the effect of organizational context on selection the characteristics of jobs at the top the characteristics of executives methods for selecting higher level personnel and predicting their success executive performance after selection and organizational outcomes The bibliography includes scientific journal articles technical reports articles from the popular press books book chapters and viewpoints of practitioners and experts in the field An author index is included LMI

Choosing 360 Ellen Van Velsor, Jean Brittain Leslie, John W. Fleenor, 1997 Feedback is a rare commodity in organizational life but it is key to managerial effectiveness One increasingly popular vehicle for getting feedback from one s boss peers and subordinates is the multiple perspective or 360 degree feedback instrument Use of such an instrument can enhance self confidence by highlighting individual strengths and can facilitate greater self awareness by pointing out areas in need of further development Because of the availability of so many feedback instruments finding the best instruments for an organization s needs is difficult This book which updates Feedback to Managers Volume I A Guide to Evaluating Multi rater Feedback Instruments 1991 CCL presents a step by step process that shows how to evaluate multiple feedback instruments intended for management development The steps take you through such issues as instrument development validity and reliability feedback display scoring strategies and cost
