Looking for the Ancient Greeks Martha Beck, 2018-12-21 This book is a response to Antonio Damasio's Looking for Spinoza Joy Sorrow and the Feeling Brain Damasio a prominent neuroscientist begins by explaining what the latest discoveries in the neurosciences tell us about human psychology He rejects the two prominent models of human psychology since the Western Enlightenment the blank slate and dualism Instead says Damasio we now know that the brain and body are completely integrated through a complex system of neural maps Damasio's recognition of the complete unity of body brain and mind leads him to the conclusion that we have to develop ideas and ideas of ideas and use them to reform our neural maps This book presents Damasio's own ideas about the most serious questions in life that we ought to use to reform ourselves and our societies including homeostasis spirituality feelings suffering and death the value of religious traditions and the value of the philosophical path to God among others The book presents additional positions on the same serious questions from perspectives that it is hoped Damasio will consider adding to or in some cases replacing his position Most of the book is a discussion of many aspects of Ancient Greek culture showing how it developed into a complex cultural system
