Discovery And The Capitalist Process:

Discovery and the Capitalist Process Israel M. Kirzner, 1985

Foundations of Entrepreneurship and Economic Development David A Harper, 2003-03-13 This well written book is the first to deal with entrepreneurship in all its aspects. It considers the economic, psychological, political, legal, and cultural dimensions of entrepreneurship from a market process perspective. David A Harper has produced a volume that analyses why some people are quicker than others in discovering profit opportunities. Importantly, the book also covers the issue of how cultural value systems orient entrepreneurial vision and in contrast to conventional wisdom, the book argues that individualist cultural values are not categorically superior to group oriented values in terms of their consequences for entrepreneurial discovery.

Historical Foundations of Entrepreneurial Research Hans Landström, Franz Lohrke, 2010-01-01 The authors present an historical perspective on the development of empirical research into entrepreneurship.

China's Long and Winding Road to Modernization Fu-Lai Tony Yu, Diana S. Kwan, 2023-09-05

China's Long and Winding Road to Modernization: Uncertainty, Learning, and Policy Change interprets contemporary China's economic transformation from Austrian and evolutionary perspectives. Fu Lai Tony Yu and Diana S Kwan incorporate culture, institutions, government agents, and entrepreneurship to understand economic change in China. In this book, the authors emphasize the roles of uncertainty, learning, and experimentation in policy making. Topics discussed range from a presentation of theoretical frameworks to understand China's economic transformation, an account of China's economic management during 1950-1978, the economic reformation after 1979 concurrent with Deng Xiaoping's Open Door Policy, and China's rise as a global power. These topics culminate in the final section of the book, which suggests a path for China's modernization.

Law and Market Economy Robin Paul Malloy, 2000-08-10

Law market theory and semiotics together provide a challenging new perspective on economic analysis of law.

Law and the Invisible Hand

Robin Paul Malloy, 2021-11-18 Introduction: law's invisible hands. Setting the stage: Social organization in the informal realm. Social organization in the formal realm. Integrating the informal and formal in Smith's theory. The spectator view: Judgment and justice. The sentiment of common interest. The impartial spectator: homo economicus and homo identitas. Understanding the four stages of progress. Adam Smith in American law. Parting thoughts.

Discovery, Capitalism, and Distributive Justice

Israel M. Kirzner, 2016 Discovery, Capitalism, and Distributive Justice makes Kirzner's case for the idea that entrepreneurial profit is both essential for an economy and profoundly just. Asserting that the problem with standard criticism of capitalist income distribution is a failure to see capitalism as a discovery procedure, Kirzner argues that production and subsequent profit are neither automatic nor guaranteed. This important contribution to the larger debate of the capitalist system clarifies core economic issues so that the positive science of economics can enlighten our understanding of justice in capitalist distribution. Successful production always results from the discovery of an opportunity to obtain new gains from trade, i.e. the discovery of entrepreneurial profit Kirzner shows that profit is the just and fair possession of its discoverer This is what he calls the finders keepers rule The finders keepers rule asserts that an unowned object becomes the justly owned property of the first person who discovering its availability and its potential value takes possession of it Richard Ebeling reviewed the work in 1989 saying the heart of Professor Kirzner s argument is that every discovery of a new opportunity is the appropriation of that which had not existed before a human mind had seen the potential in that object Kirzner s monograph is complemented here by three important articles on the subject of economic justice a critique of Kirzner s theory and a reply from Kirzner to that critique Kirzner s finders keepers rule of entrepreneurial profit and market distribution stands as one of the foremost defenses of the distribution of income and profit in the free enterprise system Israel M Kirzner is a leading economist in the Austrian School and Professor Emeritus of Economics at New York University Peter J Boettke is University Professor of Economics and Philosophy at George Mason University and the BB T Professor for the Study of Capitalism at the Mercatus Center His publications include Living Economics The Handbook of Contemporary Austrian Economics and The Elgar Companion to Austrian Economics He has been the editor of The Review of Austrian Economics since 1998 Fr d ric Sautet is Associate Professor at The Catholic University of America School of Business and Economics He is a specialist in Austrian market process theory and teaches entrepreneurship studies He has taught at George Mason University of Paris Dauphine He is the author of An Entrepreneurial Theory of the Firm and has published widely on entrepreneurship France Encounters Globalization Peter Karl Kresl, Sylvain Gallais, 2002 This work examines the French economy and how it is adjusting to the exigencies of an increasingly globalized environment It deals with issues challenges and processes of change and adaptation that are facing all of Europe and other countries Science & Public Policy, 2003 Productivity Issues in Canada Canada. Industry Canada, 2002 A collection of research papers that explains Canada s relatively weak productivity record over the last few decades and the nature of productivity growth in Canada The book covers a wide range of topics including productivity trends and determinants innovation investment global linkages productivity in the new economy and the social aspects of productivity Includes in depth and detailed papers by experts in Canadian economics policy trade etc Les dterminants conomiques de l'innovation Randall Morck, Bernard Yeung, Canada. Industry Canada, Industry Canada Research Publications Program, 2001 This paper explores what economists know about the economics of innovation It identifies key empirical research on different aspects of what causes the pace of innovation to be faster or slower A selective survey of empirical work on the determinants of innovation guided by relevant economic theory discusses the economics of information the effects on the pace of innovation of the strength of intellectual property rights firm size and whether government policy determines innovation Prescriptive Entrepreneurship James O. Fiet, Pankaj C. Patel, 2008 In the only known programme of prescriptive entrepreneurship James Fiet provides a marked contrast to the standard descriptive focus of entrepreneurship studies Instead of the anecdotally based pedagogies that have dominated the teaching of entrepreneurship and which do not control for luck based success the author lays out a programme of research to develop and test theoretically derived guidelines for how to improve the success rate and performance of aspiring entrepreneurs Rather than describing what entrepreneurs do he prescribes and tests what they ought to do The author finds that the use of systematic search at the launch relates positively to both the discovery of wealth generating ideas and the founding of ventures The book also uncovers the characteristics of forgiving business models and discusses their teachability Training elements of the book include a prescriptive model of how to search for and discover wealth generating ideas a detailed protocol for how to train aspiring entrepreneurs in the use of systematic search and an instrument that allows aspiring entrepreneurs to test the potential of their ideas before launching a venture The book will be of interest to business and entrepreneurship scholars and teachers students and aspiring entrepreneurs who are looking for prescriptive tools to help them launch a successful business Southern Economic Journal ,1990 Contains section Book reviews The Austrian Theory of Free Monetary Institutions Martti Vihanto,1988 Books in Print ,1994 Regulating Utilities Stephen Sayer,Bryan V. Carsberg,1996 Now that privatisation of utilities is substantially complete regulation has become a major economic and political issue To provide an intellectual basis for utility regulation each year the Institute in conjunction with the London Business School publishes a set of Readings which assess the state of regulation considers the state of regulation considers what problems have arisen and discusses how they might be solved taking into account the experiences of other countries The authors adopt no common political or ideological stance they bring a variety of viewpoints to bear since the intentions is to stimulate debate The 1996 edition of this comprehensive and up to date review of utility regulation in Britain includes contributions not only from academic commentators but from the utility regulators and the heads of the general competition authorities Government Union Review ,1990 Choice ,1986 The Market Process Peter J. Boettke,David L. Prychitko,1994 The Market Processpresents a series of important and innovative articles written by economists of the Austrian School Covering the gamut of economic issues including equilibrium theory free banking public choice and the problems of contemporary social reform the book is an ideal introduction to the diversity of contemporary Austrian economics and its innovative trajectory of research in the late twentieth century Drawing upon essays published in the journal Market Processduring the 1980s this book reflects an extended dialogue over the value and limitations of Austrian economics It makes available to a wider audience contributions by some of the leading figures in the field At the cutting edge of interdisciplinary research it incorporates the latest developments in areas overlooked by neoclassical economists including process analysis methodological subjectivism and phenomenological hermeneutics This book should be of interest to all those who seek an alternative to formal neoclassical economics as well as other researchers in the social sciences who study exchange processes In addition it will be of general interest to Austrian and public choice economists as well as historians of economic thought
