Adolescence, Risk and Resilience John Coleman,Ann Hagell,2007-12-17 Adolescence is often portrayed as an age of particular risk Adolescents are not only considered a risk to themselves but also to the rest of society As a society we are nervous of them and consider them vulnerable yet the seeds of successful and independent adult life are laid down in adolescence and they need all the help and support that they can get at a challenging time Adolescents at Risk Against the Odds looks in depth at some of the key risks faced by adolescents and at some of the ways in which they can be alleviated The book is structured according to the operational challenges the research informs

Young People in the Labour Market Andy Furlong,John Goodwin,Henrietta O'Connor,Sarah Hadfield,Stuart Hall,Kevin Lowden,Réka Plugor,2017-10-12 Levels of suffering among young people have always been much higher than governments suggest Indeed policies aimed at young workers have often been framed in ways that help secure conformity to a new employment landscape in which traditional securities have been progressively removed Increasingly punitive welfare regimes have resulted in new hardships especially among young women and those living in depressed labour markets Framed by the ideas of Norbert Elias Young People in the Labour Market challenges the idea that changing economic landscapes have given birth to a Precariat and argues that labour insecurity is more deep rooted and complex than others have suggested Focusing on young people and the ways in which their working lives have changed between the 1980s recession and the Great Recession of 2008 2009 and its immediate aftermath the book begins by drawing attention to trends already emerging in the preceding two decades Drawing on data originally collected during the 1980s recession and comparing it to contemporary data drawn from the UK Household Longitudinal Study the book explores the ways in which young people have adjusted to the changes arguing that life satisfaction and optimism are linked to labour market conditions A timely volume this book will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers who are interested in fields such as Sociology Social Policy Management and Youth Studies

Labour Markets and Identity on the Post-Industrial Assembly Line Anthony Lloyd, 2016-04-22 As a product of its time the call centre utilises new developments in telecommunications and information technology to offer cost efficient delivery systems for customer care Efficiency productivity and flexibility are all embodiments of neoliberal market capitalism and are all personified in the call centre operation as well as the structure of the labour market in general Thus the individual and the workplace are embedded in a variety of global processes In order to frame the context in which call centre operations exist today and their employees mainly young men and women negotiate the increasingly risky and individualised task of developing an identity or sense of belonging in the world Labour Markets and Identity on the Post Industrial Assembly Line sets out the economic social and political changes over the last three decades that have restructured the labour market altered the balance between labour management and the state and unleashed global market capitalism upon previously sheltered areas of the economy and social life in both Britain and elsewhere This ground breaking book offers one of the first real qualitative sociological investigations of a relatively new form of employment to see what life is like on the post industrial assembly line whilst also taking a close look at the nature of class identity and subjectivity in relation to young people coming of age in a world dramatically altered over the last three decades

Inventing Adulthoods Sheila Henderson, 2007. The series Youth Perspectives and Practice provides a distinctive and rare combination of expert commentary, new research, original theorising and critical reflection on how we should understand youth and work with young people. These books deserve a wide readership the way they are written and organised will make them particularly appealing to students. Professor Robert MacDonald, University of Teesside, Inventing Adulthoods offers a ground breaking new perspective on young people's experiences of growing up at the turn of the 21st century, arguing that a biographical approach is vital to understanding the holistic and dynamic character of their lives. Based on a study of a diverse group of young people over a 10 year period, the book explores high profile policy issues: education, employment, drugs, cultures of violence and well being. It also considers the significance of those things that mean most to young people themselves: mobility, home, belonging, intimacy and social life. The book is written in a lively and engaging style and through case studies and interviews examines the impact that social factors such as gender, class, sexuality, religion, disability and family have on life opportunities and connections between young people's lives, social policy frameworks and practice applications. Inventing Adulthoods is an invaluable resource to anyone interested in the lives of young people. Thought provoking yet accessible, this book is ideal for students in youth studies and education, as it is for youth workers, social workers and other practitioners. Inventing Adulthoods is the set book for the Open University course Youth Perspectives and Practice KE308. Sheila Henderson is a Visiting Fellow at London South Bank University. Janet Holland is Professor of Social Research and Co director of the Families and Social Capital ESRC Research Group at London South Bank University. Sheena McGrellis is a Senior Research Fellow in the Families Group but is based at University of Ulster. Sue Sharpe is a Visiting Fellow at London South Bank University. Rachel Thomson is Professor of Social Research in the Faculty of Health and Social Care at The Open University.

Youth in Transition Kenneth Roberts, 2009. Comparing youth in Eastern Europe and the West, this book offers an insight into the changing lives of young people. It explores life transitions covering various aspects of young people's lives from education and work to family and leisure.

Next Wave Cultures Anita Harris, 2008. This new collection provides an interdisciplinary examination of young women's multilayered lives. Contributors from various fields wrestle with both subculture theory and feminism in an attempt to understand contemporary strategies for connection and social action.

"Planned" Teenage Pregnancy Suzanne Cater, Lester Coleman, 2006. This study explores the motivations for planned teenage pregnancy in England based on 51 in depth interviews undertaken in disadvantaged areas Safeguarding Human Progress Khalid Malik,2014 This publication notes that the most effective policies for supporting human development and reducing vulnerabilities are those that incorporate principles of universalism by placing people at the centre of policy Responding to life cycle and structural vulnerabilities through social investments and policy interventions deliver long term benefits by reducing vulnerabilities at critical life phases and mitigating structural disadvantage faced by discriminated groups in society Yet the emerging challenges and risks posed by vulnerability given the backdrop of globalisation require a concerted approach and collective action that will measure up to the scale of these shared challenges In building this argument this companion volume to the 2014 Human Development Report draws on research commissioned from eminent economists demographers and social scientists The British National
