Stronge, Virginia M. Helm,1991 Demands for accountability in schools have led to increasingly rigorous evaluations of teachers and administrators But there is a gap in the literature when it comes to evaluating school support personnel such as school counsellors psychologists nurses social workers and librarians This book fills that gap by offering a systematic approach that enables administrators and evaluators to assess more effectively the performance of non teaching staff The authors present their Professional Support Personnel model which offers a generalized approach as well as addressing the needs of specific populations Academic Program Evaluation Eugene C. Farmer (Jr.),George John Papagiannis,1975 Research in Education ,1969 A Model for Evaluating Teacher Education Programs Elizabeth Nelli,Norma Nutter,1984 Prior to presenting a model for evaluating teacher education programs it is pointed out that five major issues must be settled before attempting an evaluation 1 the evaluation s purpose 2 clients or audience 3 specific questions to investigate 4 use of an internal or external evaluator or a combination and 5 dissemination of the evaluation and types of decisions to be made based on its results The matrix of the model includes the following elements 1 the philosophy and basic purposes of the program 2 objectives or intended outcomes of the evaluation 3 collection and assessment of data 4 characteristics of students faculty college policy program budget and administration 5 interactions between mentors and students in the actual working curriculum 6 outcomes attributable to the program 7 external factors impinging on the program 8 standards against which the program s quality or value are measured and 9 judgments on the quality value or effectiveness of the program and its components These elements their interpretations and their interrelations are described and discussed Four examples are given demonstrating how the model might be applied in actual evaluations JD
