Discrimination Processes Quantitative Analyses Of Behavior Volume 4:

Quantitative Analyses of Behavior, 1990 Quantitative Analyses of Behavior Michael L. Commons, John A. Nevin, 1981 Signal Detection Michael L. Commons, 1991 The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Cognition Thomas R. Zentall, Edward A. Wasserman, 2012-03-20 In the past decade the field of comparative cognition has grown and thrived No less rigorous than purely behavioristic investigations examinations of animal intelligence are useful for scientists and psychologists alike in their quest to understand the nature and mechanisms of intelligence Extensive field research of various species has yielded exciting new areas of research integrating findings from psychology behavioral ecology and ethology in a unique and wide ranging synthesis of theory and research on animal cognition The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Cognition contains sections on perception and illusion attention and search memory processes spatial cognition conceptualization and categorization problem solving and behavioral flexibility and social cognition processes including findings in primate tool usage pattern learning and counting The authors have incorporated findings and theoretical approaches that reflect the current state of the field This comprehensive volume will be a must read for students and scientists who want to know about the state of the art of the modern science of comparative cognition Vision, Brain, and Behavior in Birds Harris Philip Zeigler, Hans-Joachim Bischof, 1993 This book provides the first comprehensive and current review of considerable progress made over the past decade in analyzing neural and behavioral mechanisms mediating visually guided behavior in birds The visual capacities of birds rival even those of primates and their visual system probably reflects the operation of a ground plan common to all vertebrates This book provides the first comprehensive and current review of considerable progress made over the past decade in analyzing neural and behavioral mechanisms mediating visually guided behavior in birds The book s five major sections deal with the visual world of birds the organization of avian visual systems the development and plasticity of visual structure and function visuomotor control mechanisms and cognitive processes The introduction to each section discusses the nature and significance of the problem areas providing a context for the chapters to follow which review the current status of research on a specific problem The contributors are an international assemblage of researchers representing a wide variety of disciplines ranging from ornithology to neurophysiology and including ethology experimental psychology anatomy and developmental neurobiology For the ethologist avian behavior is the source of a wide variety of species typical fixed action patterns for the experimental psychologist birds are the subject of choice for studies of conditioning learning and cognitive processes for the neurobiologist they provide model systems for studying developmental processes sensory mechanisms orientation and motor control For these reasons research on the avian brain and behavior occupies an increasingly important place in contemporary behavioral biology Context and Learning P. Balsam, A. Tomie, 2014-01-14 First published in 1984 The effects of contextual stimuli on the performance of conditioned behaviors have recently become the object of intense theoretical and empirical scrutiny This book presents the work of researchers who have attempted to characterize the role of context in learning through direct experimental manipulation of these stimuli Their work reveals that context has important and systematic effects upon the learning and performance of conditioned responses The roles played by context are diverse and the problems confronted in attempting to evaluate and differentiate contextual functions are formidable These considerations are discussed in the introductory chapter The remaining chapters present an analysis of the role of context in Pavlovian operant and discrimination learning paradigms

Journal of the Experimental Analysis of Behavior, 1990      Domjan and Burkhard's The Principles of Learning and Behavior Michael Domjan, Barbara Burkhard, 1993 This popular text gives students a comprehensive and readable introduction to contemporary issues in learning and behavior The books balanced coverage careful organization and focus on animal learning have made it a favorite for years with professors and students alike The book provides a systematic introduction to elementary forms of learning that have been the focus of research for much of the twentieth century habituation classical conditioning instrumental conditioning stimulus control aversive control and their applications to the study of cognition and to the alleviation of behavior problems Biological constraints on learning are integrated throughout the text as are applications boxes that relate animal research to human learning and behavior The book is organized so that each chapter builds on the previous one and simpler phenomena habituation and sensitization are described before more complicated ones Within each chapter information is also presented in increasing order of complexity Throughout analogies and examples help simplify and clarify concepts      Stevens' Handbook of Experimental Psychology, Learning and Cognition Richard C. Atkinson, Richard J. Herrnstein, Gardner Lindzey, R. Duncan Luce, 1988 This is a new edition of the established reference and graduate text on experimental psychology Widely used for over 25 years this edition has been completely updated and expanded into two volumes contributors to these works are among the most highly renowned professionals in the field Volume 1 includes coverage of the physics and retinal physiology of vision the nature of auditory perception speech and emotional patterns and the latest theories and findings in the area of behavioural genetics Volume 2 includes studies exploring such topics as the psychobiology of learning and memory the influences of choice and reinforcement in human behaviour psycholinguistics individual variations in cognitive functioning and much more

Steven's Handbook of Experimental Psychology: Perception and motivation Stanley Smith Stevens, Richard C. Atkinson, 1988      International Encyclopedia of the Social & Behavioral Sciences Neil J. Smelser, Paul B. Baltes, 2001 The largest work ever published in the social and behavioural sciences It contains 4000 signed articles 15 million words of text 90 000 bibliographic references and 150 biographical entries      The Quarterly Journal of Experimental Psychology, 2000      Psychobiology Nigel William Bond, David Siddle, 1989      The Principles of Learning & Behavior Michael Domjan, Barbara Burkhard, 1986 This popular text gives students a comprehensive and readable introduction to contemporary issues in learning and behaviour while providing balanced coverage of classical and instrumental conditioning      Addictive Behaviour

D. Colin Drummond, 1995-07-11 Addictions are responsible for vast and growing morbidity mortality and misery in society Until now not only has the theoretical underpinning of the most commonly practised treatment approaches in the addictions field been scant but the evidence for the effectiveness of these methods has also been generally lacking In the cue exposure paradigm there is a rare opportunity to make a vital connection between theory and practice in the rational development of new treatment approaches Cue exposure has become a routine clinical procedure in the treatment of phobic and obsessive compulsive disorders and shows promise in the addictions field There is always a danger however that new approaches will become adopted into routine practice in an uncritical fashion This book therefore brings together a series of invited reviews specially prepared by addictions experts from around the world Together these reviews provide a much needed critical analysis of the evidence The primary audience for the book is clinical psychologists and psychiatrists interested in addictions However it will also appeal to all graduates in these fields as a teaching and reference work Index of Conference Proceedings, 1990

Learning and Behavior James E. Mazur, 1994 This comprehensive survey describes the basic principles theories controversies and experiments in the field of learning Focusing on both classic studies and recent developments and trends it deals with how people and animals learn and how learning impacts behaviours The emphasis throughout is on the importance of learning principles in everyday life Contemporary Learning Theory and Research

Roger M. Tarpy, 1997 This is a thorough and scholarly discussion of basic learning primarily drawing from the research on the conditioning of animal subjects It is written for the sophomore junior course in learning with general psychology as the only prerequisite Tarpy's primary orientation is cognitive stressing the way in which knowledge is represented information is processed and stored and decisions are made The second important focus covers the ecological relevance of learning how basic learning mechanisms process information so that various species may behave more adaptively in their own environmental niche Publisher description
