Discovering Nature Globalization And Environmental Culture In China:

Discovering Nature Robert P. Weller, 2006-02-16 Robert P Weller's richly documented account describes the extraordinary transformations which have taken place in Chinese and Taiwanese responses to the environment across the twentieth century. Indeed both places can be said to have discovered a new concept of nature. The book focuses on nature tourism, anti pollution movements and policy implementation to show how the global spread of western ideas about nature has interacted with Chinese traditions. Inevitably differences of understanding across groups have caused problems in administering environmental reforms. They will have to be resolved if the dynamic transformations of the 1980s are to be maintained in the twenty first century. In spite of a century of independent political development a comparison between China and Taiwan reveals surprising similarities showing how globalization and shared cultural traditions have outweighed political differences in shaping their environments. The book will appeal to a broad readership from scholars of Asia to environmentalists and anthropologists.

Radicalism, Revolution, and Reform in Modern China Catherine Lynch, Robert B. Marks, Paul G. Pickowicz, 2011-03-31 This volume illuminates the relationship of China's radical past to its reformist present as China makes a way forward through very differently conceived and contested visions of the future. In the context of early twentieth century problems and the failures of global capitalism is China's history of revolutionary socialism an aberration that is soon to be forgotten or can it serve as a resource for creating a more fully human and radically democratic China with implications for all of us. Ranging from the early years of China's revolutionary twentieth century to the present the essays collected here look at the past and present of China with a view toward better understanding the ideas, ideals and people who have dared to imagine radical transformation of their worlds and to assess the conceptual, political and social limitations of these visions and their implementations. The volume's chapters focus on these issues from a range of vantage points representing a spectrum of current scholarship. The first half of the book brings new insights to understanding how early twentieth century intellectuals interpreted ideas that allowed them to break with China's past and to envision new paths to a modern future It treats of Chen Duxiu a founder of the Communist party Mao Zedong and Mao in relation to the non Communist Liang Shuming and with the Dalai Lama With continuing threads of nation and nationalities of peasants utopias and dystopias linking the chapters the book s second half looks broadly at the consequences of the implementations of radical ideas at the same time critiquing our accepted frameworks of analysis Moving up to the present the book investigates the effects of the reforms since the 1980s on long term environmental degradation and on the emergence of a capitalist rural economy It gives an unsparing view into contemporary rural China through independent films The book concludes with an analysis of the unshakable persistence of the shibboleth the rise of China in popul

America, China, and the Struggle for World Order G. John Ikenberry, Zhu Feng, Wang Jisi, 2015-07-22 This book brings together twelve scholars six Americans and six Chinese to explore the ways America and China think about international order The book shows how each country s traditions historical experiences and ideologies influence current global dialogues

Environment, Modernization and Development in East Asia Ts'ui-jung Liu, James Beattie, 2016-04-08 Environment Modernization and Development in East Asia critically examines modernization s long term environmental history It suggests new frameworks for understanding as inter related processes environmental social and economic change across China and Japan

China's Green Religion James Miller, 2017-05-16 How can Daoism China s indigenous religion give us the aesthetic ethical political and spiritual tools to address the root causes of our ecological crisis and construct a sustainable future In China s Green Religion James Miller shows how Daoism orients individuals toward a holistic understanding of religion and nature Explicitly connecting human flourishing to the thriving of nature Daoism fosters a green subjectivity and agency that transforms what it means to live a flourishing life on earth Through a groundbreaking reconstruction of Daoist philosophy and religion Miller argues for four key green insights a vision of nature as a subjective power that informs human life an anthropological idea of the porous body based on a sense of qi flowing through landscapes and human beings a tradition of knowing founded on the experience of transformative power in specific landscapes and topographies and an aesthetic and moral sensibility based on an affective sensitivity to how the world pervades the body and the body pervades the world Environmentalists struggle to raise consciousness for their cause Miller argues because their activism relies on a quasi Christian concept of saving the earth Instead environmentalists should integrate nature and culture more seamlessly cultivating through a contemporary intellectual vocabulary a compelling vision of how the earth materially and spiritually supports human flourishing

Chinese Religious Life David A. Palmer, Glenn Shive, Philip L. Wickeri, 2011-09-13 Offering an introduction to religion in contemporary China the essays in this volume consider many diverse themes including religion in urban rural and ethnic minority settings and the historical sociological economic and political aspects of religion on the country as a whole Religion and the Environment: Religious environmentalism in action Roger S. Gottlieb, 2010 In the last two decades a new form of religiously motivated social action and a virtually new field of academic study each based in recognition of the connections between religion and humanity's treatment of the environment have developed. Interactions between religion and environmental concern have been manifest in the explosive growth of ecotheological writings, institutional commitment by organized religions, and environmental activism explicitly oriented to religious ideals. Clergy throughout the world in virtually every denomination have received word from leaders of their religion that the environment no less than sexuality, poverty or war and peace is now a basic and compelling religious matter. Out of this confrontation have been born vital new theologies based in the recovery of marginalized elements of tradition, profound criticisms of the past, and ecologically oriented visions of God, the Sacred, the Earth, and human beings. Theologians from every religious tradition along with dozens of non-denominational spiritual writers have confronted world religions' past attitudes towards nature. In the realm of institutional commitment, public statements and actions by organized religions have grown dramatically. In the context of political action throughout the U.S. and the world, religiously oriented groups take part in environmentally oriented political action from lobbying and consciousness raising to activist demonstrations and civil disobedience. This collection serves as a comprehensive introduction, overview, and in-depth account of these exciting new developments. The four volumes cover virtually every aspect of the field from theological change and institutional commitment to innovation in liturgy from new ecumenical connections among different religions and between religion, science, and environmental movements from religious participation in environmental politics to an account of the global social and political contexts in which religious environmentalism has unfolded.

Pilgrimage in the Age of Globalisation Nelia Hyndman-Rizk, 2012. This edited collection brings together a series of ethnographically grounded studies on sacred and secular pilgrimage in the age of globalisation from around the world. Pilgrimage is explored as a distinctive form of mobility in late modernity which emphasises inner transformation. Thus the studies in this volume show how pilgrimage unifies physical and metaphysical mobility into a holistic project of self-realisation through motion. Journal of Chinese Religions, 2013.

Fengshui in China Ole Bruun, 2011. For well over a century Chinese fengshui or geomancy has interested Western laymen and scholars. Today hundreds of popular manuals claim to use its principles in their advice on how people can increase their wealth, happiness, longevity, and so on. This study is quite different, approaching fengshui from an academic angle. The focus is on its significance in China, but the recent history of its reinterpretation in the West is also depicted. The author argues that fengshui serves as an alternative tradition of cosmological knowledge which is used to explain a range of everyday occurrences in rural areas such as disease, mental disorders, accidents, and common mischief. The study includes a historical account of fengshui over the last 150 years, augmented by the results of anthropological fieldwork on contemporary practices in two Chinese rural areas.

China Edward Burman, 2008. China. The Global Community Yearbook of International Law and Jurisprudence 2009 Volume I. Giuliana Ziccardi Capaldo, 2010-10-22.

a. The set generally. Please note that the following description applies to both volumes in the 2009 Yearbook, not solely to Volume I. The Global Community

Yearbook is a one stop resource for all researchers studying international law generally or international criminal tribunals specifically The Global Community Yearbook appears annually in two volume editions of carefully chosen primary source material and corresponding expert commentary The general editor Professor Giuliana Ziccardi Capaldo employs her vast expertise in international law to select excerpts from important court opinions and also to choose experts from around the world who contribute essay guides to illuminate those cases Although the main focus is recent case law from the major international tribunals and regional courts the first volume of each year's edition always features expert articles by renowned scholars who address broader themes in international law themes that appear throughout the case law of the many courts covered by the series as a whole b This particular edition 2009 This year's edition of the Global Community Yearbook is restructured to update its format and to better respond to its objective The change affects the section entitled Decisions of International Courts and Tribunals all other sections will remain the same This section divided into twelve sub Sections presents annually the more significant international case law in the form of legal maxims systematically collected The elaboration of legal maxims extracted from the courts decisions and their systematic classification makes this year's edition of the Yearbook unique International courts and tribunals have developed remarkably in recent years and it is becoming increasingly difficult to follow the case law emanating from those jurisdictions without the help of an intermediary The Yearbook and its unique changes fill this gap by serving as an intermediary between the case law and international scholars practitioners and students In previous issues of the Yearbook these legal maxims were prepared by referring both to the law and often extensively to the specific facts of the case In the new format the legal maxims will now distil the most important elements of judicial decisions and rely less heavily on the facts The text of the legal maxims has been reduced to the minimum necessary for systematic classification printing the website links for the case law An introductory note on each international tribunal or court continues to be provided as a synopsis of their activity over the year This reduction of the text of legal maxims better responds to the goals of the Yearbook to serve as a mediator and to provide complete coverage of case law from international courts and tribunals c Individual volumes The first volume of the 2009 edition of Global Community Yearbook presents three categories of material wholly beneficial to any international law researcher International tribunals court opinions excerpted with scholarly skill by General Editor Giuliana Ziccardi Capaldo expert guidance on those cases in the form of commentary by globally recognized luminaries whom Ziccardi has chosen personally and more broadly focused introductory essays by similarly prominent scholars whom Ziccardi has also selected for that purpose In the introductory essays those scholars take on the current controversial topics of the case against criminalizing hate speech the global importance of human rights for environmental protection the evolution of international environmental law and the politics of global powers Those incisive and knowledgeable introductory articles help frame the debates currently raging in international law before this volume leads the reader on to expert commentary on the noteworthy cases from this past year's

dockets of the following tribunals The International Court of Justice The WTO Dispute Resolution System The International Criminal Court International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda Ziccardi has arranged the sections of this volume according to that list of tribunals and she has included a short targeted index for each of those sections making any research in this volume efficient and fruitful Volume 2 This second volume of the 2009 edition of Global Community Yearbook gives researchers an illuminating tour through the varied and dynamic law of regional and organizational courts In the court opinion excerpts and expert commentary that fill this volume researchers will find detailed guidance on a rich diversity of legal topics from whether the European Court of Human Rights is effective as the centerpiece of the European human rights protection system to the jurisdictional challenges by respondent States under applicable investment agreements On these questions and a host of others this volume provides to students scholars and practitioners alike a valuable combination of expert discussion and direct quotes from the court opinions to which that discussion relates The courts covered by this particular volume are The Court of First Instance of the European Communities The Court of Justice of the European Communities The European Court of Human Rights Inter American Court of Human Rights International Centre for the Settlement of Investment Disputes
