Discourse Power And Resistance Challenging The Rhetoric Of Contemporary Education:

Discourse, Power, and Resistance ,2003      Discourses of Education in the Age of New Imperialism Jerome

Satterthwaite,Elizabeth Atkinson,2005 This fourth volume in the Discourse Power Resistance series takes the theme into new territory setting educational thinking and practice firmly in its global political context Drawing on schools of thought as diverse as Marxism and eco feminist theology the contributors to Part 1 Global Imperialism and Terror The Theory and Practice of Othering led by Peter McLaren examine the possibilities for critical thinking and transformative practice in the aftermath of 9 11 and the new age of cultural and political imperialism In Part 2 Praxis Thinking and Doing contributors draw on a range of critical perspectives to examine both the theory and practice of education taking the reader from the self to the system and back again via dynamic systems theory flow theory and a multiplicity of diverse and often conflicting practices of subversion The book closes with two radical departures from the norm a seriously playful transgression into the fields of pop art and film and a searing poetic lament on the current state of educational policy and practice As educators we are all in William Pinar s words behind enemy lines in a field which despite our continued bids for autonomy is increasingly hijacked by globalizing political forces This book offers modes of resistance which are startling unsettling and challenging It will be of deep interest to students tutors and researchers in education policy studies and related fields and to those who are involved in training or becoming the educators of the future The contributors are Peter McLaren William Pinar Mike Cole Lisa Isherwood Elizabeth Atkinson Tamsin Haggis Sue Clegg Gill Boag Munroe Ros Ollin Victoria      Discourse, Resistance and

Identity Formation Jerome Satterthwaite,Wendy Martin,Lorna Roberts,2006 This fifth volume in the Discourse Power Resistance series considers how teachers and learners are under relentless pressure to conform their professional identity to a model imposed by policymakers The book deals with the fundamental question facing teachers and learners worldwide who are we what are we supposed to be doing why Policymakers offer stultifying answers to these questions based on a narrow instrumental view of education that is viewed by teachers and learners with growing anger and dismay What is to be done The official view and the discourse through which that view is articulated is shown in this book to be weighty and vacuous at the same time a massively ponderous discursive absurdity Consequently this book goes on to offer wide ranging and serious strategies of resistance The book encourages faculty and students in universities and partner institutions involved in teaching training and or carrying out research in all areas of education It will appeal to staff and students involved in training for compulsory and post compulsory vocational education and lifelong learning and to lecturers in all areas of Higher Education with an interest in issues of policy and identity formation The contributors are David Selby Cheryl Hunt Christina Schwabenland Eileen Honan Mhairi Mackie James Avis Anne Marie Bathmaker Yota Dimitriadi and Michael Watts      The War Against the Professions Judith J. Slater,David M. Callejo Pérez,Stephen M. Fain,2008-01-01 The modern American university has for more than a century been the frontier where those who aspired to social and economic advancement ventured Initially the guides for the aspirants were the professors who having earned the trust of both the general public and practitioners provided the necessary foundation for entry into the profession It was understood that what took place in the academy was an introductory experience as all professions require some form of supervised practical experience prior to being admitted into the profession Research done by members of the academy served as the primary source of knowledge advancing the professions Finally those who were engaged in these acts of knowledge production were actively involved establishing pre professional curriculum teaching and evaluation and they were held in high regard for this work The final quarter of the twentieth century marked a shift in the general attitude toward the professorate and the academy Trust was replaced with accountability and the high regard once enjoyed was undermined by suspicion The traditional model of the academy once seen as a community of scholars was replaced by a new corporate mind set Production became more important than inquiry These shifts resulted in a university where students were trained in response to the needs of others who defined the frontier for them This shift responds to the mitra of the day

Teacher Education in Lifelong Learning Alison Iredale, 2018-01-13 This book promotes the idea that professionalism among teachers should be marked by democratic relations rather than by managerialism and performance management It provides a thorough investigation of issues around the participation of trainee teachers in the Lifelong Learning Sector by reflecting on their experiences and questioning how well initial teacher education prepares teachers as professional practitioners in the sector The reflexive nature of the book promotes a deep discussion of the nature of professionalism drawing upon the works of John Dewey Michel Foucault and Pierre Bourdieu and places initial teacher education in the Lifelong Learning Sector firmly within the policy and ideological context of regulation audit and control It also illuminates pertinent discussions around teacher agency through a consideration of confidence excellence and routinised practices Finally the book takes us through the looking glass to reveal the tensions within the teacher education curriculum as it prepares trainee teachers for a ready made world whilst at the same time attempting to encourage principles of social justice inclusive practice and education as a democratic endeavour It will be compelling reading for students and researchers working in Education and Sociology particularly those with an interest in lifelong learning and teacher training
