

THYROID DISEASE

The hypothalamus is located in the brain, just above the pituitary gland. Its job is to maintain the body's homeostasis or internal balance by regulating the release of hormones from the pituitary gland.

Hyperthyroidism: Overactive Thyroid

A condition where the thyroid gland is overactive, producing too much thyroid hormones, having too much thyroid hormone in the body will speed up some of your metabolism beyond normal limits.

The most common cause of hyperthyroidism is Graves' disease, an autoimmune disease that causes the thyroid to enlarge (called a goiter) and over produce thyroid hormones.

Common symptoms include:

- Heart palpitations
- Nervousness
- Fast heart rate
- Muscle weakness
- Excessive sweating
- Weight loss
- Fatigue
- Diarrhea
- Thinning of hair
- Increased appetite
- High blood pressure
- Increase sweating
- Irregular menstrual periods
- Hot intolerance

The pituitary gland is located at the base of the brain. It releases hormones which help regulate the functions of other endocrine glands.

How The Thyroid Gland Works:

A) Hypothalamus releases thyrotropin releasing hormone (TRH). This hormone in turn triggers the pituitary gland to release thyroid stimulating hormone (TSH).

B) Pituitary gland releases thyroid stimulating hormone.

C) The thyroid gland releases thyroid hormones T3 & T4.

D) Thyroid hormones enter the blood stream where they travel to all organs and cells to regulate metabolism.

E) The amount of thyroid hormones in the blood is monitored by the pituitary gland, so it knows to produce more or less TSH.

Hypothyroidism: Underactive Thyroid

A condition where the thyroid gland fails to produce enough thyroid hormones. Having too little thyroid hormone in the body will slow the metabolism. It is very common for people to have some degree of thyroid deficiency and not notice.

Causes of hypothyroidism: thyroid gland failure can be caused by inflammation of the thyroid or autoimmune thyroiditis, which damages thyroid cells. Other times, treatments for hyperthyroidism (aimed at reducing the function of an overactive thyroid) can cause hypothyroidism.

Common symptoms include:

- Fatigue and weakness
- Weight gain
- Difficulty to lose weight
- Hair loss
- Coarse, dry hair
- Cold intolerance
- Constipation
- Depression
- Memory loss
- Irregular menstrual periods

Primary Hypothyroidism

Thyroid is not functioning properly and thyroid doesn't produce enough thyroid hormones.

Secondary Hypothyroidism

Pituitary doesn't produce enough TSH, and as a result the thyroid doesn't produce enough thyroid hormones.
