Coppola Peter Cowie,1994-08-22 By 1982 Francis Ford Coppola had won five Academy Awards at the same time he was over 20 million in debt following the disastrous failure of One from the Heart This astute biography critically examines Coppola s singular vision and why it makes such paradoxes not only possible but prevalent in his long turbulent career At the age of 32 Coppola became a superstar in Hollywood with The Godfather which rapidly climbed to the top of the all time box office hits Two years later he won the coveted Palme d Or at the Cannes festival for The Conversation His savage epic of the Vietnam War Apocalypse Now established him as the most daring brilliant filmmaker of his generation This book not only goes behind the cameras to track the creative and financial turmoil involved in his productions but offers perceptive analyses of his films including all three parts of The Godfather and the visually stunning remake of Dracula Based on three years of research and exclusive interviews with the subject Coppola illuminates the director s rise to prominence his personal tragedies intermittent failures and resurgent successes with telling insights into the shaping of his artistic sensibility This is a spirited penetrating study of a man whose films have a strange way of mirroring his own sometimes tempestuous life

Francis Ford Coppola Michael Schumacher,1999 So you still want to direct films Coppola wearily asked one of his assistants after a long day of shooting on The Godfather Always remember three things Have the definitive script ready before you shoot There ll always be some changes but they should be small ones Second work with people you trust and feel secure with Remember good crew people you ve worked with on other films and get them for your film Third make your actors feel very secure so they can do their job well Pausing for a moment Coppola considered his advice I ve managed to do none of these things on this film he concluded Francis Ford Coppola is one of the seminal filmmakers of the generation that changed the way movies are made Five of the films he s worked on are listed among the American Film Institute s top 100 films ever made He is a man who s spent his life seeking to realize his own artistic vision even as he acknowledges the force that truly drives Hollywood box office receipts Francis Ford Coppola A Filmmaker s Life is the first complete picture of the flawed cinematic genius who directed the Godfather trilogy Apocalypse Now The Conversation and other distinctive films some wildly successful some disastrous Coppola is on every film aficionado s list of Hollywood s greatest directors But he is renowned nearly as much for his mistakes as for his masterpieces for his bluster as for his brilliance for the money he has lost as for the fortunes he has made In an era when playing it safe seems to be the credo of the Hollywood Wall Street complex Coppola is a driven unpredictable renegade who has repeatedly gambled everything in an effort to bring his ideas to life regardless of the cost In Francis Ford Coppola we hear the entire story of this man s career covered in more detail than ever before from his apprenticeship under Roger Corman to his winning a Director s Guild Lifetime Achievement Award Along the way we learn how he turned a pulp Mafia novel into a cinematic classic how he almost literally killed himself during the filming of Apocalypse Now and how he confirmed Hollywood's predictions about him with various flops and follies along the way. In the hands of biographer Michael Schumacher, who gained unprecedented access to Coppola's friends, critics, peers, casts, and crews, the story of Francis Ford Coppola makes for irresistible reading and the first complete picture of this complex, conflicted genius.

The Path to Paradise Sam Wasson, 2023-11-28

Sam Wasson's supremely entertaining book tracks the ups and downs, ins and outs of a remarkable career. A marvel of unshowy reportage, New York Times The New York Times bestselling author of Fifth Avenue 5 A.M. and The Big Goodbye returns with the definitive account of Academy Award-winning director Francis Ford Coppola's decades-long dream to reinvent American filmmaking, if not the entire world through his production company, American Zoetrope. Francis Ford Coppola is one of the great American dreamers, and his most magnificent dream is American Zoetrope, the production company he founded in San Francisco years before his gargantuan success when he was only thirty. Through Zoetrope's experimental communal utopia, Coppola attempted to reimagine the entire pursuit of moviemaking. Now more than fifty years later, despite myriad setbacks, the visionary filmmaker's dream persists, most notably in the production of his decades-in-the-making film and the culmination of his utopian ideals, Megalopolis. As Wasson makes clear, the story of Zoetrope is also the story of Coppola's wife, Eleanor Coppola, and their children, and of personal lives inseparable from artistic passion. It is a story that charts the divergent paths of Coppola and his cofounder and onetime apprentice, George Lucas, and of their very different visions of art and commerce. And it is a story inextricably bound up in the making of one of the greatest quixotic masterpieces ever attempted, Apocalypse Now, and in what Coppola found in the jungles of the Philippines when he walked the razor's edge. That story, already the stuff of legend, has never fully been told until this extraordinary book.
