thinking about morality and metaethics but also of much philosophical thought about language and meaning Noncognitivism in Ethics is an outstanding introduction to these theories ranging from their early history through the latest contemporary developments Beginning with a general introduction to metaethics Mark Schroeder introduces and assesses three principal kinds of noncognitivist theory the speech act theories of Ayer Stevenson and Hare the expressivist theories of Blackburn and Gibbard and hybrid theories He pays particular attention both to the philosophical problems about what moral facts could be about or how they could matter which noncognitivism seeks to solve and to the deep problems that it faces including the task of explaining both the nature of moral thought and the complexity of moral attitudes and the Frege Geach problem Schroeder makes even the most difficult material accessible by offering crucial background along the way Also included are exercises at the end of each chapter chapter summaries and a glossary of technical terms making Noncognitivism in Ethics essential reading for all students of ethics and metaethics
