Deserts and Semi-deserts Michael Allaby, Robert T. Anderson, Ian D. Crofton, 2002 A comprehensive look at the desert and semidesert biomes examining their climate plants animals people and future plus detailed views of some famous or important desert locations

Deserts and Semideserts Michael Allaby, Robert Anderson, Ian D. Crofton, 2010-09 There are deserts on every continent from the sun baked heart of Africa to the chilly plains of northern China Together they make up one of Earth's largest biomes Biologists divide the living world into major zones called biomes including deserts oceans tropical forests and tundra Looking at biomes helps us understand the connections between our planet's climate and the plants and animals that live there Biomes also have a huge impact on people Each book reveals the fascinating web of relationships between climate plants animals and people that makes every biome unique Inside this book Superb photography bringing each biome dramatically to life Clear maps of each major region of every featured habitat identify the main areas of environmental stress Fact panels give at a glance information on each region Meets curriculum standards for the study of biomes and their importance for plants animals and people Glossary sources of further information and index Book jacket

Encyclopedia of Deserts Michael A. Mares, Oklahoma Museum of Natural History (Norman, Okla.), 1999 Encyclopedia of Deserts represents a milestone it is the first comprehensive reference to the first comprehensive reference to deserts and semideserts of the world Approximately seven hundred entries treat subjects ranging from desert survival to the way deserts are formed Topics include biology birds mammals reptiles amphibians fishes invertebrates plants bacteria physiology evolution geography climatology geology hydrology anthropology and history The thirty seven contributors including volume editor Michael A Mares have had extensive careers in deserts research encompassing all of the world's arid and semiarid regions The Encyclopedia opens with a subject list by topic an organizational guide that helps the reader grasp interrelationships and complexities in desert systems Each entry concludes with cross references to other entries in the volume inviting the reader to embark on a personal expedition into fascinating previously unknown terrain In addition a list of important readings facilitates in depth study of each topic An exhaustive index permits quick access to places topics and taxonomic listings of all plants and animals discussed More than one hundred photographs drawings and maps enhance our appreciation of the remarkable life landforms history and challenges of the world's arid land

Temperate Deserts and Semi-deserts Neil E. West, 1983

Nomadic Desert Birds W. Richard J. Dean, 2013-06-29 My interest in the behaviour and movements of birds of arid and semi arid ecosystems began when my wife Sue Milton and I were Roy Siegfried Director at that time of the Percy approached by Prof FitzPatrick Institute of African Ornithology to set up a project to investigate granivory in the South African Karoo Sue and I spent some time finding a suitable study site setting up accommodations and an automatic weather station at Tierberg in the southern Karoo near the village of Prince Albert and planning projects Among our first projects was a transect where we noted plant phenology measured seed densities on the soil surface counted birds observed ant activity measured soil surface temperatures and collected whatever climate data we could at 40 sites along a 200 km oval route. Along the way we became interested in the marked presence and absence of birds at certain sites abundant birds one day and very few birds at the same site a month later. Subsequent counts along fixed transects through shrublands confirmed that a number of bird species were highly nomadic over short and long distances locally and regionally leading to speculation on how widespread these movements were in the arid ecosystems of the world.

Animal life in deserts, a study of the fauna in relation to the Patrick Alfred Buxton, 1923 Animal Life in Deserts Patrick Alfred Buxton, 1923 Desert Research: 1965-1968. With an appendix of references prior to 1965 and permuted title index, 1969 Directed Study Guides for Knowlton's Introduction to World Geography Alma Leonhardy, Hogoboom Grace W., Elizabeth Van Patten, 1929 Introduction to World Geography Philip Arnold Knowlton, 1927 The Scientific Monthly James McKeen Cattell, 1927 Hot Deserts and Arid Shrublands Michael Evenari, Imanuel Noy-Meir, David W. Goodall, 1985 This is the second part of a two volume work which presents an authoritative world wide view of our knowledge about and understanding of hot desert ecosystems. This includes some semi arid and arid areas as well as deserts in the strict sense. The hot deserts are distinguished from the temperate deserts which form the subject of another volume in the series by the virtual absence of snowfall even though frosts may occur. For each major hot desert region expert authors have summarized existing knowledge according to a general outline. This includes descriptions of the ecosystem components climate soil flora and fauna and discussion of interaction between components and overall ecosystem functioning. The information from the regional chapters has been integrated into a world wide view in the synthesis chapters. Because of its length the volume is published in two parts. The first part included the general synthesis chapters and regional descriptions of the hot deserts of America and Australia. The present volume covers hot deserts of Asia and Africa.
