Design With Culture Claiming Americas Landscape Heritage:

Design with Culture Charles A. Birnbaum, Mary V. Hughes, 2005 This anthology written by a number of distinguished scholars breaks new ground in focusing on a major yet generally neglected chapter in the legacy of landscape architectural practice in the United States Equally important the content addresses a long overlooked aspect of the historic preservation movement bringing home the importance of knowing that movement's past in the pursuit of high professional standards today For practitioners and historians alike this is an invaluable book This collection of fresh essays is a valuable contribution to an expanding literature about what must be considered the most complex and contested social product our landscape especially that which is deemed historically significant The sweep from colonial origins to Appalachian farms from scenic wilderness and missions of the West to the nation's capital the little known stories behind the origins of our heritage and conservation organizations and many of our first and most meaningful parks will be of interest to laymen students and professionals alike Vineyard ,2005 Towards World Heritage Melanie Hall, 2016-02-24 Historic preservation whether of landscapes or buildings was an important development of the nineteenth century in many countries There is however surprisingly little understanding about how it took place and research into it is narrowly focused For example generally landscape preservation from this time is examined separately from buildings preservation is seen in terms of national narratives or considered within the contexts of area studies and it is usually seen from a specific disciplinary perspective All of these later categorizations did not apply at the time and consequently a very partial view is achieved In order to begin unlocking a very complex phenomenon that has helped to define our own age this dynamic collection of essays brings together an international and transdisciplinary line up of academics and practitioners to reconsider preservation's origins in the second half of the nineteenth and early part of the twentieth century With a focus on Britain and the British Empire and including case studies from the United States Canada Sweden France Germany Sri Lanka The Holy Land and Turkey this book places preservation in imperial international and national contexts demonstrating that there was far more interaction between different countries in this arena than may be supposed and revealing remarkable but hitherto hidden overlaps and intersections It examines three main themes the influence of religion the political and sub diplomatic aspects of preservation and the professionalization of preservation practice Internationalizing trends already existed through the churches the universities and the diplomatic services as well as familial ties that had an important impact on preservation's epistemic communities and its targets Other internationalizing factors include an interest in national histories and the histories of architecture and art particularly when known through illustration a growing interest in biography especially of founding fathers or famous literary figures and tourism Although the focus is on architectural preservation this book demonstrates that in this formative period the preservation of buildings and landscapes needs to be considered together as it often was at the time and in context The conclusion reached is that the preservation movement has to be understood in imperial and international contexts rather than in simply national or regional ones Vernacular Architecture and Regional Design Kingston Heath, 2009-06-04 Sustainable design requires that design practitioners respond to a particular set of social cultural and environmental conditions Vernacular Architecture and Regional Design defines a set of strategies for understanding the complexities of a regional setting Through a series of international case studies it examines how architects and designers have applied a variety of tactics to achieve culturally and environmentally appropriate design solutions Shows that architecture and design are inextricably linked to social and environmental processes and are not just technical or aesthetic exercises Articulates a variety of methods to realise goals of socially responsible and environmentally responsive design Calls for a principled approach to design in an effort to preserve fragile environments and forge sustainable best practice Vernacular Architecture and Regional Design will appeal to educators and professional practitioners in the fields of architecture heritage conservation and urban design Dr Kingston Wm Heath is Professor and Director of the Historic Preservation Program at the University of Oregon Previously he was Professor of Architecture at the University of North Carolina Charlotte where he taught seminars on vernacular architecture and regional design theory He holds graduate degrees from the University of Chicago and Brown University In addition to numerous articles in scholarly journals he is the author of Patina of Place and winner of the Abbott Lowell Cummings Award from The Vernacular Architecture Forum for excellence in a scholarly work He has earned an international reputation in the field of vernacular architecture and has directed field schools in Italy and Croatia Landscape Architecture ,2005 Material Culture in America Helen Sheumaker, 2008 You can tell a lot about people by looking at their stuff the things they make process and value That is the idea that drives the field of material culture in which scholars explore the meaning of objects of a given society This book is the first encyclopedia to look at the study of material culture and what it reveals about life in the United States Jacket
