Beyond Brutalism and the Postwar Architecture-Sculpture Network Angelique Campens,2025-12-08 This study focuses on the moment in the history of modern art during the 1950s when sculptors and architects began to use concrete to create a previously impossible fusion of their respective art forms and the mutual influences between sculpture and architecture The book pays particular attention to those works that left the concrete brut that is raw or unfinished and thus produced a rough aesthetic that has become an icon of postwar art The author shines a spotlight on the work of Andr Bloc and the international networks publications and initiatives that he facilitated demonstrating the pivotal role he played in the exchange between architecture and sculpture and the expansion of public art practice Placing Bloc among a roster of artists and architects working in concrete that also included Picasso and Le Corbusier the book follows the movement from Brut s conceptual and material roots in the 1930s into the height of its influence from the mid 1950s to early 1970s It ends by tracing the legacy into the present In so doing it shows how fundamental the use of concrete was to the development of a new architectural sculptural form and in turn how their interdisciplinary and socially focused practices form an overlooked genealogy of the arts in the present This book is ideal for researchers and students in 20th century Art Architecture Design and Urban Studies Integrated Buildings Leonard R.
