RIA, and his associates, teachers, senior designees, and students at the Parsons Design Institute, were the first participants in the development of the fabric and all-panels concepts. The list of the effort includes, among others, teaching design, teaching, exhibiting, graphics, design, and product design, among the books "Furniture of Design" and "How to Buy".

Kolman's responsibility for the design of the course, the writing of its introduction, selection of its content, and the development of its materials is apparent.
