

The book cover features a complex geometric design. A large, light-colored triangle is positioned in the upper center, containing a black and white halftone image of a person's face. This triangle is surrounded by other geometric shapes in various colors: a yellow-orange triangle to the top left, a dark green triangle to the top right, a dark blue triangle to the bottom left, and a dark red triangle to the bottom right. The title 'DESIGNING WEST AFRICA' is printed in large, bold, white capital letters across the bottom red triangle. Below the title, the subtitle 'Prelude to 21st Century Calamity' is written in a smaller, white, sans-serif font. The author's name, 'PETER SCHMAB', is printed vertically in white capital letters along the right edge of the red triangle.

Designing West Africa:

Designing West Africa P. Schwab, 2004-07-09 Many African nations are now described as fourth world nations ones which essentially have no future How could this have happened Through the scope of the 1960 s the first decade of African independence Peter Schwab presents a compelling and provocative answer to this question Designing West Africa tells the story of a pivotal decade in African history when the fate of the continent was decided Focusing on the six most visible leaders of the period painting detailed portraits of them both as leaders and as people Schwab looks at how Africa served as a ground to play out larger international conflicts namely the Cold War He does not fall back on blaming non African involvement for the failure to build a visible leadership for the continent rather he critiques the African leaders themselves for their individual failings

Vernacular Architecture of West Africa Jean-Paul Bourdier, Thi Minh-Ha Trinh, 2011 The dwellings of hundreds of African ethnic groups offer a variety of ideas and construction practices which contradict the widespread image of the primitive huts commonly attributed to rural Africa The cultural dimension and its application using different architectural practices are illustrated in this work Book jacket Butabu James Morris, Suzanne Preston Blier, 2004

This volume examines the complex technique of wet earth construction as practised in parts of West Africa It includes a variety of structures ranging from small huts to mosques including the mosque at Dougoumba which dates from the 12th century Architecture, Islam, and Identity in West Africa Michelle Apotsos, 2016-05-20 Architecture Islam and Identity in West Africa shows you the relationship between architecture and Islamic identity in West Africa The book looks broadly across Muslim West Africa and takes an in depth study of the village of Larabanga a small Muslim community in Northern Ghana to help you see how the built environment encodes cultural history through form material and space creating an architectural narrative that outlines the contours of this distinctive Muslim identity Apotsos explores how modern technology heritage and tourism have increasingly affected the contemporary architectural character of this community revealing the village s current state of social cultural and spiritual flux More than 60 black and white images illustrate how architectural components within this setting express the distinctive narratives value systems and realities that make up the unique composition of this Afro Islamic community Hatumere: Islamic design in West Africa Labelle Prussin, 1986

Villages of West Africa Steven House, Cathi House, 2018 Art and especially architecture are often seen as the exclusive realm of formally trained experts Award winning architects Steven and Cathi House explore the other side of that reality in a part of the world that has been at the crossroads of history for thousands of years With more than 500 photographs and insightful commentary they reveal the remarkable beauty of the people land villages textiles and vernacular architecture across seven countries of West Africa situated between the Sahara Desert and Atlantic Ocean The book celebrates the artisanship of tribal people who use building methods that are both practical and ingenious and that respond not just to local climate materials and topography but also to the needs of the inhabitants with poetic insight creating environments that are stimulating and sustainable With their clarity function and beauty these villages are living models of what community life can be      The Design of Screw Propellers Henry C. Watts,1920      The Design and Development of Costume from Prehistoric Times Up to the Twentieth Century ... Adolf Rosenberg,1925      Designing the Earth David Bourdon,1995 Moving across space and time from prehistory to the present and around the world this fascinating volume explores the many ways in which the earth has been transformed by human effort In discerning text more than 150 fabulous photographs many of them taken by some of the world s premier aerial photographers and 21 arresting drawings paintings and other artworks Designing the Earth examines such diverse works as clay dwellings in Chad and Mali adobe pueblos in the American Southwest mud brick ziggurats in Babylon ancient Egyptian funerary monuments subterranean aqueducts in Iran Native American effigy mounds the Nazca lines of Peru artificial islands in Japan the Great Wall of China Mount Rushmore and earth sheltered housing by Frank Lloyd Wright as well as earthworks by contemporary artists such as Michael Heizer and Andy Goldsworthy By considering the works in a larger design context and by discussing their meaning import and use author David Bourdon opens the reader s eyes to the formal and functional characteristics of earthworks around the world as he explores how people on different continents unknown to each other demonstrated remarkable similarities in the recontouring of their landscapes
