Power-Sharing Pacts and the Women, Peace and Security Agenda Siobhan Byrne, Allison McCulloch, 2021-11-29 This book offers a comparative lens on the contested relationship between two leading conflict resolution norms ethnopolitical power sharing pacts and the women peace and security WPS agenda Championed by national governments and international organizations over the last two decades power sharing and feminist scholars and practitioners tend to view them as opposing norms Critics charge that power sharing scholars cast gender as an inconsequential political identity that does not motivate people like ethnonationalism From a feminist perspective such thinking serves the interests of ethnicized elites while excluding women and other marginalized communities from key sites of political power This edited volume takes a different tack while recognizing the gender gaps that still exist in power sharing theory and practice contributors also emphasize the constructive engagements that can be built between ethnopolitical power sharing and gender inclusion Three main themes are highlighted The gender silences of existing power sharing arrangements The impact of gender activism and advocacy on the negotiation and implementation of power sharing pacts in divided societies The opportunities for linkages between power sharing and the women peace and security agenda The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Nationalism and Ethnic Politics

Women and the Media Maggie Andrews, Sallie McNamara, 2014-04-24 The media have played a significant role in the contested and changing social position of women in Britain since the 1900s They have facilitated feminism by both providing discourses and images from which women can construct their identities and offering spaces where hegemonic ideas of femininity can be reworked This volume is intended to provide an overview of work on Broadcasting Film and Print Media from 1900 while appealing to scholars of History and Media Film and Cultural Studies This edited collection features tightly focused and historically contextualised case studies which showcase current research on women and media in Britain since the 1900s The case studies explore media directed at a particularly female audience such as Woman's Hour and magazines such as Vogue Woman and Marie Claire Women who work in the media issues of production and regulation are discussed alongside the representation of women across a broad range of media from early 20th century motorcycling magazines Page 3 and regional television news

Water, Power and Identity Rutgerd Boelens, 2015-04-10 This book addresses two major issues in natural resource management and political ecology the complex conflicting relationship between communities managing water on the ground and national global policy making institutions and elites and how grassroots defend against encroachment question the self evidence of State market based water governance and confront coercive and participatory boundary policing normal vs abnormal The book examines grassroots building of multi layered water rights territories and State market and expert networks vigorous efforts to reshape these water societies in their own image seizing resources and or aligning users identities and rights systems within dominant frameworks Distributive and cultural politics entwine It is shown that attempts to modernize and normalize users through universalized water culture rational water use and de politicized interventions deepen water security problems rather than alleviating them However social struggles negotiate and enforce water rights User collectives challenge imposed water rights and identities constructing new ones to strategically acquire water control autonomy and re moralize their waterscapes The author shows that battles for material control include the right to culturally define and politically organize water rights and territories Andean illustrations from Peru Ecuador Bolivia and Chile from peasant indigenous life stories to international policy making highlight open and subsurface hydro social networks They reveal how water justice struggles are political projects against indifference and that engaging in re distributive policies and defying truth politics extends context particular water rights definitions and governance forms
