Design For Society:

Design for Society Nigel Whiteley, 1993 Although design has become eminently newsworthy among the general public in our society there is very little understanding to be found of the values and implications that underlie it Design generates much heat but little light we live in a world that has much design consciousness but little design awareness Nigel Whiteley analyses design's role and status today and discusses what our obsession with it tells us about our own culture Design for Society is not an anti design book rather it is an anti consumerist design book in that it reveals what most people would agree are the socially and ecologically unsound values and unsatisfactory implications on which the system of consumerist design is constructed In so doing it prepares the ground for a more responsible and just type of design Designing for Society Nynke Tromp, Paul Hekkert, 2018-12-27 Our globalised world is encountering problems on an unprecedented scale Many of the issues we face as societies extend beyond the borders of our nations Phenomena such as terrorism climate change immigration cybercrime and poverty can no longer be understood without considering the complex socio technical systems that support our way of living It is widely acknowledged that to contend with any of the pressing issues of our time we have to substantially adapt our lifestyles To adequately counteract the problems of our time we need interventions that help us actually adopt the behaviours that lead us toward a more sustainable and ethically just future In Designing for Society Nynke Tromp and Paul Hekkert provide a hands on tool for design professionals and students who wish to use design to counteract social issues Viewing the artefact as a unique means of facilitating behavioural change to realise social impact this book goes beyond the current trend of applying design thinking to enhancing public services and beyond the idea of the designer as a facilitator of localised social change Design for the Good Society Victor Margolin, Alfredo Brillembourg Tamayo, Alastair Fuad-Luke, Peter-Paul Verbeek, Guy Julier, 2015 This book is the culmination of ten years of critical reflection on engaged design and the relation between design and society The publication marks the conclusion of five editions of Utrecht Manifest the biennial event dedicated to the social aspects of design which was launched in 2005 Against the background of the five biennials an agenda for the future is laid out in essays and interviews by leading thinkers and practitioners in the field In this book Victor Margolin pioneering scholar in the discourse of social design calls on designers architects and educators to emulate the work of utopian visionaries such as William Morris Walter Gropius and Richard Buckminster Fuller and dare to envision what it takes to design for the Good Society Responsible and Resilient Design for Society, Volume 8 Amaresh Chakrabarti, Vishal Singh, Prasad S.
