Strategic Planning for Exploration Management Allen N. Quick, Neal A. Buck, 2012-12-06 In all the industries in which I do management consulting each manager considers his own industry to be truly unique Of course each is different in some respects and each has its own quirks and features. However, the similarities among industries far outweigh the differences. The critical dynamics and the management issues have a great deal in common. However, there are I believe two industries or segments of industries that have an important critical uniqueness that does distinguish them from the rest. One of these is the exploration for undiscovered natural resources, notably for oil and gas; the other is research. In these two industry segments, the competition is not nearly so much one firm against another as it is each firm against nature or, if you prefer, against the unknown. This uniqueness not only sets these two industry segments apart from the rest, it also helps us to see what they have in common with each other. Pure scientific talent, ability, and genius have direct commercial value. We do not have the zero-sum game of competition in the marketplace. A discovery by one firm does not usually perceptibly lessen the opportunity of a competitor for a discovery. On the contrary, a discovery by one firm usually increases the knowledge of the whole industry, increasing competitors' opportunity for discovery. We see the source of continuing life for the rest of the firm. From Ledgers to Success Nolan Blackwood, 2024-12-30 From Ledgers to Success: A Practical Approach to Modern Bookkeeping is your essential guide to mastering the art and science of bookkeeping in the modern business world.
