Embodying the Problem Jenna Vinson, 2017-12-11 The dominant narrative of teen pregnancy persuades many people to believe that a teenage pregnancy always leads to devastating consequences for a young woman her child and the nation in which they reside Jenna Vinson draws on feminist and rhetorical theory to explore how pregnant and mothering teens are represented as problems in U S newspapers political discourses and teenage pregnancy prevention campaigns since the 1970s Vinson shows that these representations prevent a focus on the underlying structures of inequality and poverty perpetuate harmful discourses about women and sustain racialized gender ideologies that construct women s bodies as sites of national intervention and control Embodying the Problem also explores how young mothers resist this narrative Analyzing fifty narratives written by young mothers the recent NoTeenShame social media campaign and her interviews with thirty three young women Vinson argues that while the stigmatization of teenage pregnancy and motherhood does dehumanize young pregnant and mothering women it is at the same time a means for these women to secure an audience for their own messages More information on the author s website <https://jennavinson.com>

Pedagogical Responses to the Changing Position of Girls and Young Women Carrie Paechter, Rosalyn George, Angela McRobbie, 2018-02-02 Academics and professionals working with young women face a series of paradoxes Over the last 20 years the lives of young women in the UK and Europe have been transformed They have gained considerable freedom and independence but at the very same time new less tangible forms of constraint and subordination now play a defining role in the formation of their everyday subjectivities and identities Young women have come to exemplify the pervasive sensibility of self responsibility and self organisation This new gender regime demands both conceptualisation and practical response drawing on educational research social and cultural theory and contemporary feminist thought Within the overarching theme of pedagogical responses to these trends through work in schools and within young women s online and face to face communities this book interrogates the field of sexuality and its visualisation across new and old media in the context of often predictable and endemic moral panics about teenage pregnancy rates sexually transmitted diseases and internet pornography In exploring how girls and young women respond to increasing expectations of them as the vanguard of economic social and cultural change contributors to this volume interrogate the ways in which social and educational aspiration interact with young women s developing and embodied identities This book was originally published as a special issue of Pedagogy Culture and Society
