Creating Fourpart Harmony

Oscar George Sonneck

Creating Fourpart Harmony:

Creating Four-part Harmony Lois Bock, Fred Bock, 1989 Developing an All-School Model for Elementary Integrative Music Learning Carol E. Reed-Jones, 2014-03

The purpose of this study was to investigate the potential for increasing informal music making in elementary school culture and create a model of such music making. Precedence for this model can be found in the literature of ethnomusicology, educational psychology and learning theory, multicultural music education and cultural anthropology. Literature from four distinct traditions and contexts of music making in integrative sociocultural contexts: sub-Saharan African ngoma and Community Music as manifested in New Orleans second lines, old time music and dance and summer camp music making was parsed with a philosophical lens to determine and assess possible areas of intersection between these four participatory cultures and North American public school culture. Each of these five areas was examined through a comprehensive review of literature to define their salient characteristics. These characteristics were sorted to determine commonalities between areas and the zones of intersection became the basis for a speculative model of integrative music learning featuring the inclusion of musical opportunities and interludes throughout the school day, thus taking school music beyond the confines of the music room. Instruction in music classes would still continue, enhanced in this model by supplemental learning opportunities inspired by the informal learning of traditional world musics, the participatory practice of New Orleans second line parades, old time music and dance and summer camp music culture. This model of integrative learning is also informed by current educational best practices such as child centered learning, peer tutoring, experiential learning and multicultural perspectives. It acknowledges the diversity of traditions consulted while aiming for the unity in their seemingly disparate disciplines. Five universal characteristics were uncovered in the search for areas of intersection between North American elementary school culture, child culture, ngoma music making and Community Music style music making in New Orleans, old time music and dance and summer camp contexts: a Song, b play, c informal learning as evidenced by oral tradition, peer tutoring, self learning, d kinesthetic learning and e contextualized learning as evidenced in the sociocultural uses of music and situated learning. This model strives for the enactment of school music as a vital and integral part of daily school culture.

Learning Music Theory with Logic, Max, and Finale Geoffrey Kidde, 2020-02-20

Learning Music Theory with Logic, Max and Finale is a groundbreaking resource that bridges the gap between music theory teaching and the world of music software programs. Focusing on three key programs: the Digital Audio Workstation (DAW) Logic, the Audio Programming Language (APL) Max and the music printing program Finale, this book shows how they can be used together to learn music theory. It provides an introduction to core music theory concepts and shows how to develop programming skills alongside music theory skills. Software tools form an essential part of the modern musical environment; laptop musicians today can harness incredibly powerful tools to create, record and manipulate sounds. Yet these programs on their own don't provide musicians with an understanding of music notation and structures, while traditional music theory teaching doesn't fully engage with technological capabilities. With clear and practical applications, this book demonstrates how to use DAWs, APLs, and music printing programs to create interactive resources for learning the mechanics behind how music works. Offering an innovative approach to the learning and teaching of music theory in the context of diverse musical genres, this volume provides game-changing ideas for educators, practicing musicians, and students of music. The author's website at <http://www.geoffreykidde.com> includes downloadable apps that support this book.

Zen and the Art of Producing Mixerman, 2012. Explores the many roles and responsibilities of a music producer and offers advice on music production. Provided by publisher. The Musical Standard, 1874. A handbook of examinations in music, containing 600 questions, with answers Ernest Alfred Dicks, 1898. Harmonia Leo R. MIXERMAN'S Ultimate Guide to PRODUCING Records, Music & Songs Mixerman, 2025-05-12. Let's face it: These days everyone is a producer. Artists have to be producers, songwriters have to be producers, musicians have to be producers. Recordists and mixers have to be producers, and most of those producers now have to be recordists, mixers, and mastering engineers too. Rather than reject that reality in an attempt to hold onto some archaic elitist notion of the past, I set out to write a modern producing guide that meets the needs of today's music makers. That turned into a monumental task. Nearly 600 pages later, I've written the most comprehensive book I've ever published on producing recorded music. Making records is hard. Misinformation is everywhere. And most of us are wearing multiple hats just to get the job done. Today you need to learn it all, which is a problem considering it took me nearly my entire career thus far to learn everything I share in this guide. It takes years of dedicated focus across varied real-world situations to master any one discipline. It's absolutely insane to try to master them all at once. But that's the world we live in, and that's why I wrote this book. As a gold and platinum award-winning mixer, engineer, and producer, my goal was to create an essential, no-BS guide full of battle-tested strategies for producing professional-quality music, whether for yourself or others, at home or in a full-scale studio. Making music is an art. The decision-making process requires a human perspective. This book comes from my unique experience as a professional music maker developed over decades of technological shifts and evolving musical trends. I don't just tell you how to produce music; I tell you why I make certain decisions and why you might make certain decisions, whether musical, technical, organizational, or political in nature. There's insight in this book you won't find anywhere else. Covers everything: songwriting, arranging, recording, mixing, mastering, engineering, acoustics, creative vision, and studio politics. For Home Producers, Songwriter Producers, Self Producers, and For Hire Producers: if you make music, this book is for you. Cuts through the BS, no useless jargon, no academic fluff, just real-world practical advice and explanations that focus on what's most important. Your mix is your production. Your production is your mastered mix. If you want to create professional, competitive, and emotionally impactful music, this Guide will prove invaluable—a resource you'll return to for years to come.
