Creating The 21st Century Through Innovation:

Creating the 21st Century Through Innovation Civil Engineering Research Foundation, 1996-01-01 Presents findings of an international symposium hosted by the Civil Engineering Research Foundation in Washington DC on February 4 8 1996 This report identifies follow up actions designed to strengthen international collaborative efforts to accelerate the introduction on innovative technologies and systems

Creating 21st Century Abundance through Public Policy Innovation William Sarni, Greg Koch, 2018-04-17 One of the greatest challenges of the 21st century is the problem of how the public and private sectors can sustain economic development business growth social well being and ecosystem health in the face of accelerating demand for water energy and food Business as usual projections of scarcity in water energy and food predict a lack of these resources sufficient to sustain economic and business growth as well as an adequate standard of living worldwide Developments in technology are well documented but this is the first book to explain the role of innovation in public policy and governance a topic which is frequently overlooked and often frustrates developments in technology and business Without innovation in public policy and governance innovation in technology solutions will face persistent headwinds for adoption The book showcases these innovations and creates a roadmap of what needs to change to drive economic development business growth social wellbeing and ecosystem health in the 21st century

Making 21st Century Knowledge Complexes Julie Miao, Paul Benneworth, Nicholas A. Phelps, 2015-05-15 The world has changed profoundly since the publication of the influential book Technopoles of the World As policy makers and practitioners attempt to harness science technology and innovation to create dynamic and vibrant cities many wonder how relevant Manuel Castells and Peter Hall s messages are today Twenty years later this book returns to their concepts and practices to update their message for the 21st century Making 21st Century Knowledge Complexes Technopoles of the World Revisited argues that the contemporary technopole concept encompasses three new dimensions Firstly building synergy between partners is vital for the success of complexes Secondly the correct governance arrangements are critical to balance competing interests inevitable in any science city project Thirdly new evaluation mechanisms are indispensable in allowing policy makers to steer their long term benefits Through twelve case study chapters and a detailed comparative analysis this book provides academics policy makers and practitioners with critical insights in understanding managing and promoting today s high technology urban complexes

Industrial Development for the 21st Century David O'Connor, Monica Kjollerstrom, 2008-06-01 With very few exceptions industrial development has been central to the process of structural transformation which characterises economic development Industrial Development for the 21st century examines the new challenges and opportunities arising from globalization technological change and new international trade rules The first part focuses on key sectors with potential for developing countries focussing on two key themes First traditional points of entry for late industrializers like textiles and clothing have become even more intensely competitive than ever before requiring more innovative adaptive strategies for success Second countries now recognize that manufacturing does not exhaust the opportunities for producing high value added goods and services for international markets Knowledge intensity is increasing across all spheres of economic activity including agriculture and services which can offer promising development paths for some developing countries The final section addresses social and environmental aspects of industrial development Labour intensive but not necessarily other patterns of industrial development can be highly effective in poverty reduction though further industrial progress may be less labour intensive A range of policies can promote industrial energy and materials efficiency often with positive impacts on firms financial performance as well as the environment Promoting materials recycling and reuse is an effective if indirect means of conserving resources Finally the growth of multinational interest in corporate social responsibility is traced with consideration given to both the barriers and opportunities this can pose for developing country enterprises linked to global supply chains International Journal of Technology Management ,1999
