Creating Unequal Futures Rethinking Poverty Inequality And Disadvantage:

Creating Unequal Futures? Peter Saunders, 2020-08-02 This is an important and powerful book because of the rigour of the analysis the good sense of the innovative strategies for action by government business and civil society and the concern throughout for social justice John Langmore Director UN Division for Social Policy and Development One in six Australian kids live below the poverty line Among the twenty five leading industrialised countries Australia has the fifth highest child poverty rate This is a useful if stark indicator of the extent of long term disadvantage in this country Creating Unequal Futures brings together eight of Australia's leading social scientists to introduce the reader to the processes which create and sustain persistent patterns of poverty and disadvantage Although the contributors use different approaches their research leads to a united call for a rethinking away from the prevailing gloom and doom presentations of Australian material life They signal pathways out of the dilemmas that bind people to poverty and disadvantage If followed those pathways will guide us to a future characterised by less inequality If ignored we may further entrench patterns of disadvantage and risk creating unequal futures for all Australians

Schooling the Rustbelt Kids Pat Thomson, 2020-08-04 A truly exceptional book Michael W Apple University of Wisconsin Madison A gripping insight into the local struggles facing disadvantaged schools and a compelling account of the injustice of their place in the bigger picture Professor Geoff Whitty Director Institute of Education University of London Schools in disadvantaged areas are struggling in the current economic and political environment Like schools everywhere they are being asked to do more with less but they face more obstacles In recent years education policy has shifted from a holistic approach to learning to a focus on narrow educational outcomes spelling reading and writing Thomson shows that this approach penalises disadvantaged schools and argues that educational and social disadvantage are inextricably linked in children's everyday lives Examining primary and secondary schools in disadvantaged areas in a post industrial rustbelt city Schooling the Rustbelt Kids reopens the debate about inequality in schooling It provides concrete evidence that typical government policies in the Western world are not working and that they are helping to create a permanent underclass Thomson outlines an alternative whole of government approach to policy which builds on those school programs that do make a real difference to educational outcomes Thomson also emphasises the influence of local geography Schools are coloured by particular neighbourhoods permeated by national and global events and tangled in complex networks of social relations Interventions which work in one school may not work in others

The Ends and Means of Welfare Peter Saunders, 2002-08-13 This book first published in 2002 explores the relation between economic liberalism and social policy in Australia

Indigenous Futures Tim Rowse, 2002 In the public debate about the success or failure of Australia's Indigenous policies opinions have been grounded more often in personal experience than in social scientists research This work asks What vision of the good life should guide an assessment of policy

Learning from the Margins Julie McLeod, Andrea C Allard, 2013-02-01 This collection of ground breaking international essays address the educational social work and biographical experiences of young women who are routinely constructed as at risk and on the margins Drawing on research from an international range of scholars this book brings together important new perspectives on the gendered dimensions of social exclusion and educational marginalisation It offers practitioners as well as researchers insights into how to research social marginalisation and reflections on projects and programmes that have attempted to do so Chapters investigate key topics such as early school leaving indigenous young women and schooling pregnant and parenting young women at school constructions of health subjectivity and social class the politics of ethnicity Provocative and insightful this book will make interesting reading to students and post graduate students of education youth studies gender studies sociology and social work Understanding the City John Eade, Christopher Mele, 2011-07-15 This cutting edge multi disciplinary analysis looks ahead to the direction which urban studies is likely to take during the twenty first century

Structural Equation Modeling in Educational Research ,2009-01-01 Over the years researchers have developed statistical methods to help them investigate and interpret issues of interest in many discipline areas These methods range from descriptive to inferential to multivariate statistics As the psychometrics measures in education become more complex vigorous and robust methods were needed in order to represent research data efficiently One such method is Structural Equation Modeling SEM SEM is a statistical technique that allows the simultaneous analysis of a series of structural equations It also allows a dependent variable in one equation to become an independent variable in another equation It is a comprehensive statistical approach to testing hypotheses about relations among observed and latent variables SEM is commonly known as causal modeling or path analysis which hypothesizes causal relationships among variables and tests the causal models with a linear equation system As educational research questions become more complex they need to be evaluated with more sophisticated tools The pervasive use of SEM in the literature has shown that SEM has a potential to be of assistance to modern educational researchers This book will bring together prominent educators and researchers from around the world to share their contemporary research on structural equation modeling in educational settings The chapters provide information on recent trends and developments and effective applications of the different models to answer various educational research questions This book is a critical and specialized source that describes recent advances in SEM in international academia Human Rights and Social Policy Ann Nevile, 2010 This fascinating study evaluates whether the recent focus on human rights citizenship and values makes a difference to service delivery on the ground In doing so it bridges the social policy and human rights literature The book adopts a comparative approach with eight case studies examining the factors that drive policy making in a range of policy sectors in both EU and non EU countries The contributing authors explore the ways in which legally enforceable rights and wider rights discourse influence the services that are provided across a range of policy sectors and welfare regimes Further issues such as how patterns of service provision can affect how people view and experience citizenship are also discussed Human Rights and Social Policy will strongly appeal to
