Creating And Recovering Experience Repetition In Tolstoy:

Creating and Recovering Experience Natasha Sankovitch, 1998-03-01 The thesis of this book is that repetition is central to Tolstoy's art The author argues that Tolstoy uses this device or rather complex of devices to represent and examine the processes by which people structure and give meaning to their experience Repetition is shown to be essential to his style to his understanding of characters psychology to the structure of his work and to his interaction with readers In short it defines much of what is Tolstoyan about Tolstoy Following a discussion of the epistemological and psychological beliefs that shape Tolstoy's use of repetition the author explores the effects and implications of repeated verbal elements as they function in the discourse of characters and narrators She develops a concept of novels of length which are distinguished from ordinary long novels in that length is essential to their themes and purposes A complex dynamic of memory forgetting and reminders repetition structures both the characters evolving identities and the readers changing apprehension of the text The author next discusses Tolstoy's use of repetition to shape relationships among characters and considers the connection between these relationships and thematic development in his novels She concludes by exploring the intertextual repetitions in Tolstoy's oeuvre which are seen as part of a process by which allusions among works create a revealing sense of the author's developing career In examining the link between Tolstoy's repeated verbal elements and his broader concepts of structure and meaning the book combines close readings of key passages in the novels with an exploration of larger theoretical issues the dynamics of reading and sense making the ethics and aesthetics of memory and the function of language as a system of cognition and communication As a result the book contributes not only to studies of Tolstoy and the genre of the novel but to our understanding of the relations among rhetorical cognitive aesthetic and ethical aspects of great Creating and Recovering Experience Natasha Sankovitch, 1992 The Overcoming of History in War art generally and Peace Jeff Love, 2004-01-01 The Overcoming of History in War and Peace marks a radical departure from the critical tradition dominated by Sir Isaiah Berlin's view that the novel is deeply divided against itself a majestically flawed contest of brilliant art and clumsy thought To the contrary Jeff Love argues that the apparently divided nature of the text its multi leveled negotiation between different kinds of representation expresses the rich variety of the novel s very deliberate striving to capture the fluidity of change and becoming in the fixed forms of language The inevitable failure of this striving revealing the irreducible conflict between infinite desire and finite capacity is at once the source of new beginnings and the repetition of old ones a wellspring of continually renewed promises to achieve a synoptic vision of the whole that the novel cannot fulfill This repetitive struggle between essentially comic and tragic conceptions of human action far from being a pervasive flaw in the texture of the novel in fact constitutes its dynamic center and principal trope as well as the productive origin of the unusual features that distinguish it as an uncommonly bold narrative experiment Anna Karenina (SparkNotes Literature Guide) SparkNotes, 2014-08-12 Anna Karenina SparkNotes Literature Guide by Leo Tolstoy Making the reading experience
