Christian Symbols Ancient And Modern:

Christian Symbols Heather Child, Dorothy Colles, 1979 CHRISTIAN SYMBOLS ANCIENT AND MODERN HEATHER.
Child, 1966 The Encyclopedia of Christianity Erwin Fahlbusch, Geoffrey William Bromiley, 1999 The Encyclopedia of Christianity is the first of a five volume English translation of the third revised edition of Evangelisches Kirchenlexikon Its German articles have been tailored to suit an English readership and articles of special interest to English readers have been added The encyclopedia describes Christianity through its 2000 year history within a global context taking into account other religions and philosophies A special feature is the statistical information dispersed throughout the articles on the continents and over 170 countries Social and cultural coverage is given to such issues as racism genocide and armaments while historical content shows the development of biblical and apostolic traditions This comprehensive work while scholarly is intended for a wide audience and will set the standard for reference works on Christianity Outstanding reference sources 2000 American Libraries May 2000 Comp by the Reference Sources Committee RUSA ALA Christian Symbols, Ancient Roots Elizabeth Rees, 1992 Ancient peoples articulated and made sense of their lives through the powerful world of symbol and Christianity absorbed such symbols as blood corn fire and water adding new dimensions of meaning to each one By medieval times these symbols provided access to a many levelled world in which pagan and Christian truths shed light upon each other During the Age of Reason the language of symbol was spoken less and now that symbols are valued once again Christians often fear to reconnect religious symbols with their ancient roots As a result the symbol world of modern Christians is often a pale shadow of the world their forebears inhabited This book selects dominant Christian symbols and places them against the archaic background from which they grew drawing on myths and rituals of both ancient and contemporary cultures thereby integrating the worlds of symbol and reality sacred and secular myth and history Ancient Pagan and Modern Christian Symbolism Thomas Inman, 2005-12-01 First published in 1869 this remarkable early work of comparative mythology intended for the general public takes great pains to remind the reader that there is no danger of suddenly finding oneself transformed into a Buddhist or a Mahometan merely by allowing one's eyes to alight upon symbols of a non Protestant faith It also feels the need to introduce the reader to the idea of religious arcana that some concepts were once deemed fit only for select and secret ears and then proceeds to cheerfully reveal some of those secrets such as the phallicism of church steeples and spires With the assistance of numerous charming illustrations Inman introduces his 19th century readers to the metaphorical links between Christianity and the civilizations of the ancient world India Babylonia Assyria Egypt and others from shared abstract figures of stars and crosses to nature symbology fish trees to particular arrangements of the human figures in religious portraits that cross cultures But it is the author's enchanting handholding that makes this work so appealing today it speaks to a new enthusiasm among the public for an approach to religion and religion as mythology that is rational logical and beginning to approach the modern British doctor and mythologist 1820 1876

Iconography of Religions Albert C. Moore, 1977

Slow of Speech and Unclean Lips Robert Stephen Reid, 2010-01-01 Historically people who have risen to the occasion to speak of faith for their generation have been keenly aware of their own limitations whether Moses who was slow of speech or Isaiah who was concerned that he spoke with unclean lips The question both Moses and Isaiah seem to be asking is who am I to speak for God And we wonder in turn was it they who spoke or God who spoke through them These biblical images carry the weight of the question raised by the essays in this volume How is preaching both the work of God and yet also a function of the individual's own person and identity How is the preacher to conceive the identity he or she assumes when proclaiming the Word of God Some of the leading educators in homiletics today propose a variety of possible preaching identities in this volume preacher as messenger of hope as lover as God's mystery steward as ridiculous person as fisher as host and guest as one out of one's mind and as one entrusted The result is an open ended invitation for readers to identify their own preaching identity either in concert with one of the images presented here or of their own making appropriately contextualized to their own ministry and theology Contributors Andre Resner Anna Carter Florence Chuck Campbell James Kay John McClure Lincoln Galloway Lucy Hogan Robert Stephen Reid and Thomas Long
