Christians And Jews Concilium:

Christians and Jews Hans Küng, Walter Kasper, 1975 A Crossroad book Includes bibliographical references Dreams, Visions, and Spiritual Authority in Merovingian Gaul Isabel Moreira, 2002-02-15 In early medieval Europe dreams and visions were believed to reveal divine information about Christian life and the hereafter No consensus existed however as to whether all Christians or only a spiritual elite were entitled to have a relationship of this sort with the supernatural Drawing on a rich variety of sources histories hagiographies ascetic literature and records of dreams at saints shrines Isabel Moreira provides insight into a society struggling to understand and negotiate its religious visions Moreira analyzes changing attitudes toward dreams and visionary experiences beginning in late antiquity when the church hierarchy considered lay dreamers a threat to its claims of spiritual authority Moreira describes how over the course of the Merovingian period the clergy came to accept the visions of ordinary folk peasants women and children as authentic Dream literature and accounts of visionary experiences infiltrated all aspects of medieval culture by the eighth century and the dreams of ordinary Christians became central to the clergy's pastoral concerns Written in clear and inviting prose this book enables readers to understand how the clerics of Merovingian Gaul allowed a Christian culture of dreaming to develop and flourish without compromising the religious orthodoxy of the community or the primacy of their own authority The New Encounter John M. Christian backgrounds Kirsopp Lake,1920 Supper at Emmaus Glenn W. Olsen,2016 Supper at Emmaus traces various important intellectual topics from the ancient world to the modern period Generally as in its treatment of the question of whether the long standing contrast between cyclical and linear views of history is helpful it introduces important thinkers who have considered the question A preoccupation of the book is the appearance and reappearance across the centuries of patterns used to organize temporal and cultural experience After an opening essay on transcendental truth and cultural relativism the second chapter traces a distinction common in historical writings during the past two centuries between an alleged ancient classical cyclic view of time and history used to describe the claimed repetitiveness of and similarities between historical events nothing is new under the sun and a contrasting Jewish Christian linear view sometimes described as providential in that it moves through a series of unique events to some end intended by God In the latter history is about something the education of the human race or the redemption of humankind As in each of the remaining essays the book then attempts to draw out the limitations of what the current consensus on this topic has become It does this for such things as our current understanding of religious toleration humanism natural law and teleology Some of the essays such as those on debate about Augustine's understanding of marriage or the concluding illustrated essay on the baroque city of Lecce are published for the first time Others are based on previously published contributions to the scholarly literature though generally each of these chapters concludes with a postscript that engages with current scholarly debate on the subject

Year Book of the Central Conference of American Rabbis Central Conference of American Rabbis,1910 Containing the proceedings of the convention Yearbook of the Central Conference of American Rabbis Central Conference of American Rabbis,1909 Containing the proceedings of the convention Jacob's Younger Brother Karma Ben-Johanan,2022-01-01 A revealing account of contemporary tensions between Jews and Christians playing out beneath the surface of conciliatory interfaith dialogue A new chapter in Jewish Christian relations opened in the second half of the twentieth century when the Second Vatican Council exonerated Jews from the accusation of deicide and declared that the Jewish people had never been rejected by God In a few carefully phrased statements two millennia of deep hostility were swept into the trash heap of history But old animosities die hard While Catholic and Jewish leaders publicly promoted interfaith dialogue doubts remained behind closed doors Catholic officials and theologians soon found that changing their attitude toward Jews could threaten the foundations of Christian tradition For their part many Jews perceived the new Catholic line as a Church effort to shore up support amid atheist and secular advances Drawing on extensive research in contemporary rabbinical literature Karma Ben Johanan shows that Jewish leaders welcomed the Catholic condemnation of antisemitism but were less enthusiastic about the Church's sudden urge to claim their friendship Catholic theologians hoped Vatican II would turn the page on an embarrassing history hence the assertion that the Church had not reformed but rather had always loved Jews or at least should have Orthodox rabbis in contrast believed they were finally free to say what they thought of Christianity Jacob's Younger Brother pulls back the veil of interfaith dialogue to reveal how Orthodox rabbis and Catholic leaders spoke about each other when outsiders were not in the room There Ben Johanan finds Jews reluctant to accept the latest whims of a Church that had unilaterally dictated the terms of Jewish Christian relations for centuries

The New Testament and Christian-Jewish Dialogue Malcolm F. Lowe, 1992 Two Faiths, One Covenant? Eugene Korn, John Pawlikowski, 2005 In the twenty first century Jews and Christians are challenged to reconsider their theological assumptions by two inescapable truths the moral tragedy of the holocaust demands that Christian thinkers acknowledge the violent effects of theologically delegitimizing Jews and Judaism and the pervasive reality of cultural and religious pluralism calls both Christian and Jewish theologians to rethink the covenant in the presence of the Other Two Faiths One Covenant Jewish and Christian Identity in the Presence of the Other is a breakthrough work that embraces this contemporary challenge and charts a path toward fruitful interfaith dialogue The Christian and Jewish theologians in this book explore the ways that both religions have understood the covenant and reflect on how it can serve as a reservoir for a positive theological relationship between Christianity and Judaism not merely one of non belligerent tolerance but of respect and theological pluralism however limited Christian Jewish Relations, 1991 Two Faiths, One Covenant? John T. Pawlikowski, Eugene B. Korn, 2004-11-26 Judaism and Christianity are religions bound together by their claims to the same biblical covenant initiated by God with Abraham and his descendants Yet despite the inseparable connection between the election of Israel and that of the church between the old and the new covenant this shared spiritual patrimony has been the source of a type of violent sibling rivalry competing for the same paternal love and inherited entitlement God it seemed had but one blessing to bestow It could be given to either Jacob or Esau but not both In the twenty first century however Jews and Christians are challenged to reconsider their theological assumptions by two inescapable truths the moral tragedy of the holocaust demands that Christian thinkers acknowledge the violent effects of theologically delegitimizing Jews and Judaism and the pervasive reality of cultural and religious pluralism calls both Christian and Jewish theologians to rethink the covenant in the presence of the Other Two Faiths One Covenant Jewish and Christian Identity in the Presence of the Other is a breakthrough work that embraces this contemporary challenge and charts a path toward fruitful interfaith dialogue The Christian and Jewish theologians in this book explore the ways that both religions have understood the covenant in biblical rabbinic medieval and modern religious writings and reflect on how the covenant can serve as a reservoir for a positive theological relationship between Christianity and Judaism not merely one of non belligerent tolerance but of respect and theological pluralism however limited The Irrevocable Call of God Richard H. Bell, 2005 Richard Bell examines the impact of Paul's life changing experience before Damascus on his theological understanding of Israel The book considers the development of Paul's view concerning the election and salvation of Israel paying special attention to 1 Thessalonians Galatians and Romans The author examines Paul's critique of Israel's religion in the light of traditional protestant approaches and the new perspective

The work concludes by considering some contemporary issues relating to Israel in the light of Paul's theology BOOK JACKET

September 2002 twenty one prominent Catholic and Protestant scholars released the groundbreaking document A Sacred Obligation which includes ten statements about Jewish Christian dialogue focused around a guiding claim Revising Christian teaching about Judaism and the Jewish people is a central and indispensable obligation of theology in our time Following the worldwide reception of their document the authors have expanded their themes into Seeing Judaism Anew The essays in this volume offer a conceptual framework by which Christians can rethink their understanding of the church's relationship to Judaism and show how essential it is that Christians represent Judaism accurately not only as a matter of justice for the Jewish people but also for the integrity of Christian faith By linking New Testament scholarship to the Shoah Christian liturgical life and developments in the church this volume addresses the important questions at the heart of Christian identity such as Are only Christians saved Why did Jesus die Why is Israel so important to Jews and what should we think about the
