Christians and Moors in Spain Charles Melville, Ahmad Ubaydli, 1992 1195-1614 Colin Smith, 1988 The two previous volumes draw a fascinating picture of the confrontation between the Christians and Moors in Spain from the Christian side This volume attempts to redress the balance by describing many of the same incidents from the Muslims point of view The close intermingling of Christians and Moors whether in love in politics or in the common enjoyment of popular festivals helps to account for the unique character of Islamic society in the Iberian Peninsula Extracts from Arabic sources cover the relations between Christians and Moors in Spain over nearly 800 years Apart from military encounters some attention is paid to diplomacy and also to lawsuits legal judgments and regulations governing the co existence of the rival communities These not only reveal the fundamental differences between the two sides but show how in many cases the divisions were not as clear cut as the jurists and theologians would have wished Only a handful of these texts have ever been translated into English before and it is hoped that this selection will make a contribution to the understanding of this remarkable period in Spanish and Islamic history Christians and Moors in Spain: c1195-1614 , 1988 The British National Bibliography

This volume gathers together extracts from texts in Latin Hispanic vernaculars and French concerning the relations of the Christians and Moors in Spain in the first four hundred years of their co existence in the Peninsula An effort has been made to illustrate aspects other than the exclusively military The texts are both historical and literary this distinction not being one that the medieval mind would make and in both prose and verse they are arranged in order of the events to which they refer not by date of composition The purpose is to make these texts available in a form not previously attempted to all who are interested in this fascinating period but may be unable to read the original languages or may not have access to the published sources Each text has a facing translation and introductory section with notes on the background and on textual difficulties There is also a general introduction and a short booklist
