Christian Schad, Thomas Ratzka

Christian Schad:

Christian Schad Thomas Ratzka, 2008 Christian Schad Christian Schad, Michael Fuhr, Leopold Museum, Thomas Ratzka, 2008 Christian Schad's 1894-1982 cool vibrant portraits with their immaculate surface and the expressive eyes functioning as a mirror to the soul soon became icons of the twenties. Apart from its focus on these world famous key works representing the artist's decisive contribution to the Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity movement, this publication also presents his early work influenced by Cubism and Dadaism and the abstracting tendencies of his work produced during the fifties. Works by companions and contemporaries place Schad's art in the context of Classical Modernism. His graphic oeuvre shows that even at an advanced age he took joy in experimentation, doing brilliant work in a great variety of media and repeatedly exploring new frontiers, for example in his well known and influential Schadographs and rare Formica pieces. A comparison with more recent exponents of realism is meant to stimulate a new evaluation of his often under appreciated late work in which beginning in the 1960s Christian Schad and the Neue Sachlichkeit Christian Schad, 2003 Bodily Desire, Desired Bodies Esther K. Bauer, 2014-06-24 Bodily Desire Desired Bodies examines the diverse ways that literary works and paintings can be read as screens onto which new images of masculinity and femininity are cast. Esther Bauer focuses on German and Austrian writers and artists from the 1910s and 1920s, specifically authors Franz Kafka, Vicki Baum and Thomas Mann and painters Otto Dix, Christian Schad and Egon Schiele who gave spectacular expression to shifting trends in male and female social roles and the organization of physical desire and the sexual body. Bauer's comparative approach reveals the ways in which artists and writers echoed one another in undermining the gender duality and highlighting sexuality and the body. As she points out, as sites of negotiation and innovation, these works reconfigured bodies of desire against prevailing notions of sexual difference and physical attraction and thus became instruments of social transformation Realism Kerstin Stremmel, 2004 Each book in Taschen's Basic Art movement and genre series includes a detailed introduction with approximately 30 photographs plus a timeline of the most important events, political, cultural, scientific, sporting etc. that took place during the time period Christian Schad, 1894-1982: Paintings Christian Schad, Thomas Ratzka, 2007 Christian Schad 1894-1982 is considered one of the most important representatives of Neue Sachlichkeit New Objectivity. Sometimes realistic to the point of exaggeration, his famous portraits mirror society in the Golden Twenties on the edge of political upheaval and social injustice. The radical and unique character of his images of artists, leading citizens, aristocrats and other cultural figures have had an influence on a diverse range of realistic tendencies in art to this very day. Schad's oeuvre is characterized by constant experimentation, an ongoing dialogue with artistic tradition and innovation. In Switzerland where he fled to avoid military service in 1915, he joined the Dada Movement. In this avant garde context he began to create his Schadographs, photographs made without a camera or lens which were already featured in an exhibition at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in 1937 Christian Schad , Christian Schad,

1894-1982: Photographs Christian Schad, Thomas Ratzka, Enno Kaufhold, 2007 The second volume in a series detailing the work of Christian Schad one of the most important artists associated with the New Objectivity this examination goes beyond his most famous medium to explore his lesser known talent for photography The collection reveals numerous rare images from the early to mid 1930s for the first time from landscapes and abstract motifs to the striking metropolis of Berlin Featuring accompanying discussions on the relationship between the New Objectivity and photography the book also delves into Schad's artistic approach focusing on his use of photographs in the painting of his famous portraits as well as his later unique method of artistic cameraless photography in his Schadographs

Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe Marsha Morton, Barbara Larson, 2021-03-25 Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe investigates the visual imagery of race construction in Scandinavia Austria Hungary Germany and Russia It covers a period when historic disciplines of ethnography and anthropology were expanding and theorists of race were debating competing conceptions of biological geographic linguistic and cultural determinants Beginning in 1850 and extending into the early 21st century this book explores how paintings photographs prints and other artistic media engaged with these discourses and shaped visual representations of subordinate ethnic populations and material cultures in countries associated with theorizations of white identity The chapters contribute to postcolonial research by documenting the colonial style treatment of minority groups by exploring the anomalies and complexities that emerge when binary systems are seen from the perspective of the fine and applied arts and by representing the voices of those who produced images or objects that adopted altered or critiqued ethnographic and anthropological information In doing so Constructing Race on the Borders of Europe uncovers instances of unexpected connections establishes the fabricated nature of ethnic identity and challenges the certainties of racial categorization
