

The background of the slide is a photograph of an open book, likely a Bible, with its pages slightly aged and yellowed. The book is open to a page with text, though the text is not legible. The lighting is warm and soft, creating a contemplative atmosphere. A dark, semi-transparent rectangular box is overlaid on the upper half of the image, containing the title and author's name in white serif font. A thin horizontal line is positioned below the title.

Christian Thought Its History And Application:

Christian Thought, Its History and Application Ernst Troeltsch, 1957 These lectures may be considered as the last organization of the author's views They may also be said to mark a new development in his mind The Baron von Hügel in his Introduction describes this change as a movement away from the reality helpfulness indeed necessity of at least some tradition That is to say Troeltsch was becoming more individualistic and less willing to recognize church and sacraments as legitimate continuations or developments of our Lord's mind The three lectures constituting this volume do not constitute exactly a unity and can best be regarded as more or less converging approaches to a common position History he holds cannot be regarded as a process in which a universal and everywhere similar principle is confined and obscured It is rather an imperishable and incomparable confusion of the always new unique and hence individual tendencies From JSTOR <http://www.jstor.org> Dec 3 10 2012 Christian thought, its history and application Ernst Troeltsch, Gangolf Hübinger, 2006 Ernst Troeltsch received an invitation to deliver lectures on his life's work in London Edinburgh and Oxford in March 1923 as one of the first German scholars to visit Britain after the First World War however he died shortly before he could make the trip The texts of the five lectures published posthumously carry Troeltsch's idea of a European cultural synthesis following from his studies on Historicism and its problems KGA 16 As part of the complete critical edition this volume presents the original German lectures together with their English translations for the first time Christian Thought Ernst Troeltsch, 1923

Christian Thought Ernst Troeltsch, 1923 The Encyclopaedia of Christianity, Vol. 5 Erwin Fahlbusch, Geoffrey William Bromiley, 1999 Written by leading scholars from around the world the articles in this volume range from sin Sufism and terrorism to theology in the 19th and 20th centuries Vatican I and II and the virgin birth Christian Thought Ernst Troeltsch, 1999-10-13 Christian Thought: its history and application. Worship and Ethics Oswald Bayer, Alan Suggate, 2013-02-06 No detailed description available for Worship and Ethics Theology at War and Peace Mark D. Chapman, 2016-10-14 This book is the first detailed discussion of the impact of the

First World War on English theology Assessing the close relationships between English and German theologians before the First World War Chapman then explores developments throughout the war A series of case studies make use of a large amount of unpublished material showing how some theologians sought to maintain relationships with their German colleagues while others especially from a more Anglo Catholic perspective used the war as an opportunity to distance themselves from the liberal theology which was beginning to dominate the universities before the war The increasing animosity between Britain and Germany meant that relations were never healed English theology became increasingly insular dividing between a more home grown variety of liberalism and an ascendant Anglo Catholicism Consequently this book offers useful insights into the development of theology in the twentieth century and will be of keen interest to scholars and students of the history of theology An Outline of Christianity ,1926 Panentheism--The Other God of the
