Christian Hauvette:

Christian Hauvette ,2000-05-01 Born in 1944 Christian Hauvette studied under the philosopher Roland Barthes before going on to train as an architect Since 1980 he has headed his own office in Paris Today Hauvette is one of France s leading architects His architecture is characterised by a clear constructive purpose which is at the same time highly expressive Jean Prouv s theories are much in evidence in his work This monograph provides an in depth overview on the buildings and projects of the 90s including the School of Waters and Forests in Clermont Ferrand and his sensational headquarters of the Caisse Fran aise de D veloppement in Paris analysing the essential characteristics of Hauvette s creativity Christian Hauvette Christian Hauvette,Denis Pondruel,1994 Christian Hauvette architecte Richard Scoffier,2009 Why compare the projects by the architect Christian Hauvette with machines or to take the analogy even further with monsters What is it that pushes Richard Scoffier architectural critic and professor to draw these comparisons This title provides an answer that guides us through some of Hauvette s most successful buildings and projects Extra-ordinaire David Trottin,1999 This work is edited by a group of young Paris based architects and consists of a photo documentary by the Parisien art photographer Cecile on so called normal interiors in everyday use This is followed by a documentation on anonymous architecture in Australia Tasmania and New Zealand Christian Hauvette, oeuvre ultime Richard Scoffier,Jean-Yves Chapuis,Christian Hauvette,Frédéric Durieux,2015-06-24 Christian Hauvette Histoire et Collections,1998-12 The Architecture of Paris Andrew Ayers,2004 The author here presents an architectural history of Paris stretching from the 3rd century BC up until the end of the 20th century Christian Hauvette Architecte Richard Scoffier,2009 Office Design Sourcebook , The New French Architecture Wojciech G. the public or private sector apartment buildings are a relatively modern answer to the problem of housing a topic that is intimately linked to the complex evolution of the customs and constructive experiences of richer countries Since the beginning of the century there has been a heated debate on this topic in an effort to specify and understand the most appropriate scenario for life and the new forms of coexistence Among the architectures that have been built since then the apartment constitutes the most difficult habitation unit an enclosure that may become a bare and sombre capsule in which a rigid compartmentation often makes the adaptation to each user's specific necessities and the personal behaviours of coexistence very difficult This book makes a full analysis of this debate through the study of a series of apartment buildings by architects of international fame with rigorous proposals that combine a careful use of brickwork warm wooden wrappings and severe glass skins on the outside Under the diversity of the projects that we present one can detect a common effort to design interiors that combines a rational approach with the search for good illumination and an intimate comfortable and well ventilated atmosphere
