Christianization Of Iceland Priests Power And Social Change 1000 1300:

The Christianization of Iceland Orri Vesteinsson, 2000-05-18 In this first historical study of High Medieval Iceland to be published in English Dr Vesteinsson investigates the influence of the Christian Church on the formation of the earliest state structures in Iceland from the conversion in 1000 to the union with Norway in 1262 In the history of mankind states and state structures have usually been established before the advent of written records As a result historians are rarely able to trace with certainty the early development of complex structures of government In Iceland literacy and the practice of native history writing had been established by the beginning of the twelfth century whereas the formation of a centralised government did not occur until more than a hundred years later The early development of statelike structures has therefore been unusually well chronicled in the Icelandic Sagas and in the historical records of the twelfth and thirteenth centuries Based on this wealth of material The Christianization of Iceland is an important contribution to the discussion on the formation of states

Iceland's Relationship with Norway c.870 - c.1100 Ann-Marie Long, 2017-07-03 In Iceland's Relationship with Norway c.870 - c.1100 Memory History and Identity Ann Marie Long reassesses the development of Icelandic society from the earliest settlements to the twelfth century Through a series of thematic studies the book discusses the place of Norway in Icelandic cultural memory and how Icelandic authors envisioned and reconstructed their past It examines in particular how these authors instrumentalized Norway to explain the changing parameters of Icelandic autonomy Over time this strategy evolved to meet the needs of thirteenth century Icelandic politics as well as the demands posed by the transition from autonomous island to Norwegian dependency

Nordic Elites in Transformation, c. 1050-1250, Volume I Bjørn Poulsen, Helle Vogt, Jón Viðar Sigurðsson, 2019-03-27 This book first in a series of three examines the social elites in Denmark Sweden Norway and Iceland and which social political and cultural resources went into their creation The elite controlled enormous economic resources and exercised power over people Power over agrarian production was essential to the elites during this period although mobile capital was becoming increasingly important The book focuses on the material resources of the elites through questions such as Which types of resources were at play How did the elites acquire and exchange resources

Paranormal Encounters in Iceland 1150-1400 Ármann Jakobsson, Mariusz Mayburd, 2020-03-23 This anthology of international scholarship offers new critical approaches to the study of the many manifestations of the paranormal in the Middle Ages The guiding principle of the collection is to depart from symbolic or reductionist readings of the subject matter in favor of focusing on the paranormal as human experience and essentially on how these experiences are defined by the sources The authors work with a variety of medieval Icelandic textual sources including family sagas legendary sagas romances poetry hagiography and miracles exploring the diversity of paranormal activity in the medieval North This volume questions all previous definitions of the subject matter most decisively the idea of saga realism and opens up new avenues in saga research

Icelanders and the Kings of Norway Patricia Pires

Boulhosa,2005-09-01 The book uses sagas and legal texts to re examine the relations between mediaeval Icelanders and the Norwegian kings It demonstrates that the Icelanders partly subjects of the king and partly beyond his power were ready to negotiate with him for their own benefit and presents a methodological re evaluation of authorial attributions of the sagas and their use as historical sources Key to the book is a revisionary analysis of two laws made between the Icelanders and the kings of Norway a law probably issued by King l fr inn helgi of Norway 1015 1028 and the purported submission agreements with King H kon H konarson 1217 1263 known as Gizurars ttm li or Gamli s ttm li It also analyses the sagas of the fourteenth century manuscript M ruvalla b k against the historical context extracted from this legal re evaluation Fish Trade in Medieval North Atlantic Societies Val Dufeu,2025-10-01 Val Dufeu here reconstructs settlement patterns of fishing communities in Viking Age Iceland and proposes socio economic and environmental models relevant to any study of the Vikings or the North Atlantic She integrates written sources geoarchaeological data and zooarchaeological data to examine how fishing propelled political change in the North Atlantic The evolution of survival fishing to internal fish markets to overseas fish trade mirrors wider social changes in the Vikings world Constructing a Cult Joanna Skórzewska,2011-01-27 Based on a variety of extant written sources this study offers a comprehensive reevaluation of Gu mundr Arason s popularity in medieval Iceland It presents a new perspective on the saintly fame and veneration of this controversial and interesting individual The Journal of Ecclesiastical History Clifford William Dugmore,2002 The Medieval Icelandic Saga and Oral Tradition Gísli Sigurðsson,2004 This work explores the role of orality in shaping and evaluating medieval Icelandic literature Applying field studies of oral cultures in modern times to this distinguished medieval literature G sli Sigur sson asks how it would alter our reading of medieval Icelandic sagas if it were assumed they had grown out of a tradition of oral storytelling similar to that observed in living cultures Sigur sson examines how orally trained lawspeakers regarded the emergent written culture especially in light of the fact that the writing down of the law in the early twelfth century undermined their social status Part II considers characters genealogies and events common to several sagas from the east of Iceland between which a written link cannot be established Part III explores the immanent or mental map provided to the listening audience of the location of Vinland by the sagas about the Vinland voyages Finally this volume focuses on how accepted foundations for research on medieval texts are affected if an underlying oral tradition of the kind we know from the modern field work is assumed as part of their cultural background This point is emphasized through the examination of parallel passages from two sagas and from mythological overlays in an otherwise secular text Great Events in Religion Florin Curta,Andrew Holt,2016-11-28 This three volume set presents fundamental information about the most important events in world religious history as well as substantive discussions of their significance and impact This work offers readers a broad and thorough look at the greatest events in world religious history covering a wide range of religions time periods and areas around the globe The entries present authoritative information and informed viewpoints written by expert contributors that enable readers to easily learn about the chief events in religious history help them to better understand the course of world history and promote a greater respect for culturally diverse religious traditions The first of the three volumes covers religion from the preliterate world through around AD 600 the second the post classical era from 600 to 1450 and the third the modern era from 1450 to the present Each volume begins with a substantive introduction that discusses the history of world religions during the period covered by the volume The chronologically ordered entries overview each event place it in historical context and identify the reasons for its enduring significance

Saga Book of the Viking Society for Northern Research Viking Society for Northern Research, 2003 List of members in v 3 5

People and Space in the Middle Ages, 300-1300 Wendy Davies, Guy Halsall, Andrew J. Reynolds, 2006 This book compares community definition and change in the temperate zones of southern Britain and northern France with the starkly contrasting regions of the Spanish meseta and Iceland Local communities were fundamental to human societies in the pre industrial world crucial in supporting their members and regulating their relationships as well as in wider society While geographical and biological work on territoriality is very good existing archaeological literature is rarely time specific and lacks wider social context most of its premises are too simple for the interdependencies of the early medieval world Historical work by contrast has a weak sense of territory and no sense of scale like much archaeological work there is confusion about distinctions and relationships between kin groups neighbourhood groups collections of tenants and small polities The contributors to this book address what determined the size and shape of communities in the early historic past and the ways that communities delineated themselves in physical terms The roles of the environment labour patterns the church and the physical proximity of residences in determining community identity are also examined Additional themes include social exclusion the community as an elite body and the various stimuli for change in community structure Major issues surrounding relationships between the local and the governmental are investigated did larger polities exploit pre existing communities or did developments in governance call local communities into being

Icelandic Histories and Romances, 2002 The Icelandic sagas composed between the twelfth and the nineteenth centuries are one of the world's great literary treasures After an extended and lively introduction to the genre Ralph O Connor provides new translations for five of the greatest of these sagas We encounter a humble Icelandic scholar dreaming of a Viking past a royal adventurer evading the horrible lusts of troll women a demon popping out of a lavatory the death spasms of the old Northern gods and unnatural acts in Muslim Germany The sagas are evocatively illustrated by Anne O Connor

The Fantastic in Old Norse/Icelandic Literature John McKinnell, David Ashurst, Donata Kick, 2006

A Very Present Help in Trouble Jón Steingrímsson, 2002 A Very Present Help in Trouble contains the first English translation of the autobiography of a remarkable eighteenth century Icelandic Lutheran priest Jón Steingrímsson He is a well known figure in the history of Iceland especially for his heroic role in helping his parishioners survive a catastrophic volcanic eruption in 1783 This book begins with an introduction describing the living conditions of the Icelandic people of his time Jón Steingrímsson's work is the first and perhaps the greatest autobiography in Icelandic literature The Christianisation of Iceland Orri Vesteinsson,1996 JEGP, Journal of English and Germanic Philology Gustaf E.
