to bring people closer to God but over the centuries they have served as a focal point for trade as fortresses and sanctuaries in times of war and as vast status symbols reflections of wealth and power of the region in which they stand These functions take on an additional significance for St Paul s the cathedral of the capital city and also of the nation Today s Church belongs to the people of the nation For example every citizen can be married or have a funeral service in his or her parish church priests can marry couples without the presence of a civil official and the General Synod the Church of England s governing body is the only organisation outside Parliament that has the power to legislate Cathedrals are perhaps the ultimate reflection of this inclusiveness Unlike parish churches which exist to minister to the people of the local area in which they stand they are a route to God for the larger community a place of celebration and mourning where feelings can be shared and the sheer scale and beauty of the architecture services and music allows visitors to experience the serenity and spirituality that are an essential counterpoint to the bustle of everyday life St Paul's Cathedral John Schofield,2016-09-30

This is the first volume concerned solely with the archaeology of a major late 17th century building in London and the major changes it has undergone St Paul s Cathedral in the City of London was built in 1675 1711 to the designs of Sir Christopher Wren and has been described as an iconic building many times In this major new account John Schofield examines the cathedral from an archaeological perspective reviewing its history from the early 18th to the early 21st century as illustrated by recent archaeological recording documentary research and engineering assessment A detailed account of the construction of the cathedral is provided based on a comparison of the fabric with voluminous building accounts which have survived and evidence from recent archaeological investigation The construction of the Wren building and its embellishments are followed by the main works of later surveyors such as Robert Mylne and Francis Penrose The 20th century brought further changes and conservation projects including restoration after the building was hit by two bombs in World War II and all its windows blown out The 1990s and first years of the present century have witnessed considerable refurbishment and cleaning involving archaeological and engineering works Archaeological specialist reports and an engineering review of the stability and character of the building are provided Designs and Drawings Sir Christopher Wren,1936 Pelican Cartoon ca 1800
