Transmedia/Genre Matthew Freeman, Anthony

N. Smith,2023-02-05 This book brings genre back to the forefront of the current transmedia trend Genres are perhaps the most innately transmedial of media constructs formed as they are from all kinds of industrial technological and discursive phenomena Yet few have considered how genre works in a multiplatform context This book does precisely that making a uniquely transmedial contribution to the study of genre in the age of media convergence The book interrogates how industrial technological and participatory transformations of digital platforms and emerging technologies reshape workings of genre The authors consider franchises such as Star Wars streaming platforms such as Netflix catch up services such as ITV Hub creative technologies such as virtual reality and beyond In setting the stage for the revival of genre theory in contemporary transmedia scholarship this book pushes forward understandings of multiplatform media and the emerging form and function of genre across contemporary culture Life after New Media Sarah Kember,Joanna

Zylinska,2014-12-05 An argument for a shift in understanding new media from a fascination with devices to an examination of the complex processes of mediation In Life after New Media Sarah Kember and Joanna Zylinska make a case for a significant shift in our understanding of new media They argue that we should move beyond our fascination with objects computers smart phones iPods Kindles to an examination of the interlocking technical social and biological processes of mediation Doing so they say reveals that life itself can be understood as mediated subject to the same processes of reproduction transformation flattening and patenting undergone by other media forms By Kember and Zylinska s account the dispersal of media and technology into our biological and social lives intensifies our entanglement with nonhuman entities Mediation all encompassing and indivisible becomes for them a key trope for understanding our being in the technological world Drawing on the work of Bergson and Derrida while displaying a rigorous playfulness toward philosophy Kember and Zylinska examine the multiple flows of mediation Importantly they also consider the ethical necessity of making a cut to any media processes in order to contain them Considering topics that range from media enacted cosmic events to the intelligent home they propose a new way of doing media studies that is simultaneously critical and creative and that performs an encounter between theory and practice Proceedings of International Seminar on Application of Communication
