Proceedings of the EIFAAC workshop on the problems and challenges of climate change, and its impact on inland aquatic resources and fisheries of Europe Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, The EIFAAC workshop on the problems and challenges of climate change and its impact on inland aquatic resources and fisheries of Europe was held virtually on 8 April 2025. It was organized by the EIFAAC Secretariat and Inland Fisheries Ireland. The workshop was attended by 119 participants from 23 countries. The workshop brought together leading researchers with the aim to examine how climate change is impacting inland aquatic systems and fisheries. Across three thematic sessions, experts explored the ecological impacts, monitoring tools, and adaptation strategies for freshwater systems. Session 1: From rivers to lakes highlighted how hydrological extremes and shifting lake thermal regimes disrupt habitats and fish ecology. Session 2: Climate change and conservation focused on emerging tools like acoustic telemetry and thermal habitat models to track fish responses at individual and ecosystem levels. Session 3: Region specific fisheries adaptation showcased evidence based approaches including Ireland's national warm water protocol. Collectively, the sessions outlined that adaptation must go beyond ecological vulnerability to include socio-economic resilience. Futureproofing of inland fisheries will require coordinated monitoring, cross-sector collaboration, and inclusive policy design. A core message emerged: climate adaptation must extend beyond vulnerability assessments to include ecological functions, socio-economic values, and adaptive capacity across multiple scales.

The Numbers Whisper: Being Statistically Alone - A True Story Stephen Ingold, 2025-06-24. The Numbers Whisper: A True Story of Synchronicity, Loss, and Finding Meaning in the Impossible. After caring for his dying mother and promising never to put her in a nursing home, Stephen Ingold drives away from his childhood home for the final time. The dashboard clock reads 11:11 AM, the beginning of an extraordinary decade-long journey that challenges everything he believes about coincidence and reality. What starts as occasional sightings of repeating numbers (11s, 44s, 55s) escalates into statistically impossible patterns. When Stephen documents his experiences and runs the mathematical probabilities, he discovers odds as rare as 1 in 9 billion. Three 555 sightings within eight hours are followed 48 hours later by a massive tree crashing through his house, missing his bedroom by mere feet. He wakes one night at 1:11, 2:22, 3:35, and 4:44 AM. While staying in hotel Room 222, he spots a car with license plate ending in 222 and records the moment at exactly 11:11 AM. Through two devastating tree strikes, major surgery, financial hardship, and the search for a new home, the numbers continue appearing at precisely the moments he needs guidance most. Even this lifelong skeptic and former radio DJ can't dismiss what's happening as mere chance. Blending memoir, spirituality, and hard mathematics, including fascinating conversations with ChatGPT about consciousness and probability, The Numbers Whisper offers both believers and skeptics a grounded exploration of synchronicity. Part statistical analysis, part spiritual journey, and entirely human, this is the story of a man who learned to listen when the universe began speaking in numbers. For readers seeking meaning in coincidence and proof that
