Robert G. Ingersoll,2012-02-16 Though for many years the most noted of American infidels Colonel Ingersoll was born and reared in a devoutly Christian household His father John Ingersoll was a Congregationalist minister and a man of mark in his time a deep thinker a logical and eloquent speaker broad minded and generously tolerant of the views of others The popular impression which credits Ingersoll s infidelity in the main to his father s severe orthodoxy and the austere and gloomy surroundings in which his boyhood was spent is wholly wrong On the contrary the elder Ingersoll s liberal views were a source of constant trouble between him and his narrow minded parishioners They caused him to frequently change his charges and several times made him the defendant in church trials His ministerial career was in fact substantially brought to a close by a church trial which occurred while he was pastor of the Congregational Church at Madison Ohio and at which his third wife appeared as prosecutor Upon this occasion he was charged with prevarication and unministerial conduct The evidence adduced the trial is one of the abiding traditions of the dull little town of Madison was of the most trivial and ridiculous character but the committee which heard it decided that though he had done nothing inconsistent with his Christian character he was inconsistent with his ministerial character and forbade him to preach in the future Elder John went before the higher church authorities and was permitted to continue his clerical labors However he soon removed to Wisconsin going from there to Illinois where he died The Madison trial occurred when young Robert was nine years old and it was the unjust and bigoted treatment his father received which made him the enemy first of Calvinism and later of Christianity in its other forms About the Holy Bible Robert G. Ingersoll,2020-02-03

About the Holy Bible is a classic bible history text by Robert G Ingersoll Somebody ought to tell the truth about the Bible The preachers dare not because they would be driven from their pulpits Professors in colleges dare not because they would lose their salaries Politicians dare not They would be defeated Editors dare not They would lose subscribers Merchants dare not because they might lose customers Men of fashion dare not fearing that they would lose caste Even clerks dare not because they might be discharged And so I thought I would do it myself There are many millions of people who believe the Bible to be the inspired word of God millions who think that this book is staff and guide counselor and consoler that it fills the present with peace and the future with hope millions who believe that it is the fountain of law Justice and mercy and that to its wise and benign teachings the world is indebted for its liberty wealth and civilization millions who imagine that this book is a revelation from the wisdom and love of God to the brain and heart of man millions who regard this book as a torch that conquers the darkness of death and pours its radiance on another world a world without a tear They forget its ignorance and savagery its hatred of liberty its religious persecution they remember heaven but they forget the dungeon of eternal pain They forget that it imprisons the brain and corrupts the heart They forget that it is the enemy of intellectual freedom Liberty is my religion Liberty of hand and brain of thought and labor liberty is a word hated by kings loathed by popes It is a word that shatters thrones and altars that leaves the crowned without subjects and the outstretched hand of superstition without alms Liberty is the blossom and fruit of justice the perfume of mercy Liberty is the seed and soil the air and light the dew and rain of progress love and joy Robert G Ingersoll The Ingersoll-Gladstone Controversy on Christianity ,1895 The Congregational Review William Ewart Gladstone,1888 Nineteenth Century Prose ,2012
