Colonels Photograph

Eugène Ionesco, John Russell

Colonels Photograph:

The Short Story and Photography, 1880's-1980's Jane Marjorie Rabb, 1998 For over a hundred years stories about photographs and photography have reflected the profound uncertainties and inconclusive endings of the modern world For many writers photography supposedly the most realistic of the arts turns out to be the most ambiguous As Jane Rabb observes in her introduction a number of the stories in this collection involve mysteries perhaps because photography has a capacity for both documentary reality and moral and psychological ambiguity Many nineteenth century writers represented here including Thomas Hardy and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle helped make short fiction as respectable as the novel Some of them were even serious photographers themselves The twentieth century is arguably a golden age for both the short story and photography This collection includes examples from a worldly group of writer Eugène Ionesco Julio Cortázar Michel Tournier and Italo Calvino as well as the Chinese writer Bing Xin and John Updike Cynthia Ozick and Raymond Carver In this wide range of stories varying from sentimental to obsessive to sinister to tragic and even fatal the reader will find provocative examples of the confluence of the short story and photography both once considered the bastard stepchildren of literature and art

The Colonel's Photograph Eugène Ionesco, 1969 The Colonel Mahmoud Dowlatbadi, 2015-08-15 On a pitch black rainy night in a small Iranian town the colonel paces back and forth inside his house waiting for the inevitable the knock on the door from the secret police From there he will be taken to the tortured body of his youngest daughter The Islamic Revolution like so many revolutions before it is devouring its own children The colonel must bury his daughter before sunrise alone without ceremony So who is to blame What follows is a shocking diatribe against the failures of the Iranian Left over the last sixty years Confrontational angry sad and lyrical Mahmoud Dowlatbadi leaves no taboo unbroken as he asks three generations who have suffered under oppressive and brutal regimes how has it come to this

The Objects of Evidence Matthew Engelke, 2009-03-30 Part of The Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute Special Issue Book Series the contributors to this volume share the conviction that anthropology can no longer afford to ignore the importance of the concept of evidence either for the ways in which anthropologists carry out their work methodology or present and justify their findings epistemology Demonstrates that evidence is something that all anthropologists must possess Shows how the collection of evidence in the field is still without doubt one of the main ingredients of what Bronislaw Malinowski once referred to as the ethnographer's magic Reveals how the concept of evidence has received little sustained attention in print especially when compared to related concepts such as fieldwork truth facts and knowledge Argued from a variety of theoretical perspectives and a rarity in its ability to orchestrate some many different
