

COLONIAL LITERATURE VERSUS POSTCOLONIAL LITERATURE

Colonial literature is the literature written during the colonisation, using colonies as a setting

Often written from the perspective of the coloniser

Portrays colonisation as a natural, unproblematic, often 'correct' process

Often portrays indigenous people and culture savage or primitive

Postcolonial literature is the literature that expresses opposition or resistance to colonisation

Written from the perspective of the former colonised

Portrays the problems and consequences of colonisation and decolonization

Attempts to describe indigenous people, places and practices to counteract the stereotypical images portrayed by the colonisers

postcolonial literatures in English designates English language literatures from Africa Asia the Americas and Oceania as well as the literatures of diasporic communities who have moved from those regions to the global north This volume introduces the central themes of postcolonial literary studies and delineates how these themes are reflected and elaborated in exemplary literary works by postcolonial authors from around the world It also offers succinct definitions of key terms like Orientalism hybridity Indigeneity or writing back The Post-colonial Studies Reader Bill Ashcroft, Gareth

Griffiths, Helen Tiffin, 1995 The Post Colonial Studies Reader is the most comprehensive selection of key texts in post colonial theory and criticism yet compiled. This collection covers a huge range of topics featuring nearly ninety of the discipline's most widely read works. The Reader's 90 extracts are designed to introduce the major issues and debates in the field of post colonial literary studies. This field itself however has become so varied that no collection of readings could encompass every voice which is now giving itself the name post colonial. The editors in order to avoid a volume which is simply a critical canon have selected works representing arguments with which they do not necessarily agree but rather which above all stimulate discussion, thought and further exploration. Post colonial theory has occurred in all societies into which the imperial force of Europe has intruded though not always in the official form of theoretical text. Like the description of any other field the term has come to mean many things but this volume hinges on one incontestable phenomenon: the historical fact of colonialism and the palpable consequences to which this phenomenon gave rise. The topic involves talk about experience of various kinds: migration, slavery, suppression, resistance, representation, difference, race, gender, place and reaction to the European influence and about the fundamental experiences of speaking and writing by which all these come into being. In compiling this reader the editors have sought to stimulate people to ask: How might a genuinely post colonial literary enterprise proceed? The fourteen sections include: Issues and Debates, Universality and Difference, Textual Representation and Resistance, Postmodernism and Post Colonialism, Nationalism, Hybridity, Ethnicity and Indigeneity, Feminism and Post Colonialism, Language, The Body and Performance, History, Place, Education and Production and Consumption. Contributors include many of the leading post colonial theorists and critics such as Franz Fanon, Chinua Achebe, Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o, Homi Bhabha, Derek Walcott, Edward Said and Trinh T. Minh-ha. In addition to a number of the discourse's newer voices, The Post Colonial Studies Reader will prove an authoritative compilation representing an invaluable contribution to the study of post colonial theory and criticism.

Postcolonial Studies Bill Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths, Helen Tiffin, 2025-01-22. Now in its fourth edition, this popular A-Z guide provides a comprehensive overview of the issues which characterize postcolonialism, explaining what it is, where it is encountered and the crucial part it plays in debates about race, gender, politics, language and identity. Fully revised and updated, the fourth edition contains more than 30 new entries including Anthropocene, Biopolitics, Decoloniality, Ecocriticism, Global South, Postcolonial sciences, Transnationalism. With substantial updates to the further reading, Postcolonial Studies: The Key Concepts remains an essential guide for anyone studying this vibrant field.

Concepts of Home and Belonging in Postcolonial Literature compared in the novels "Small Island" by Andrea Levy and "White Teeth" by Zadie Smith Christina Heckmann, 2009-11-20. Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies, Literature grade 2.00, University of Göttingen. Seminar für Englische Philologie, course Multiethnic Britain, language English, abstract 1. Introduction 1.1. Brief introduction to home and belonging as a general idea. Home has a significant function in our lives. Thinking of home we associate notions like shelter and comfort and when we come home we want to feel safe and welcome John McLeod argues in this sense that to be at home is to occupy a location where we are welcome where we can be with people very much like ourselves 1 We are looking for who we are where we come from and try to find our place in life When one is born in a country but moves to another where is one's home country then This question is hard to answer because migration is always a process which implies a struggle of identities When the 2nd generation is born in the host country where do they belong if the host country does not accept them as full members The term home is highly complicated in a complex and multicultural world like ours 1 2 Procedure and approach of my analyses I have centered my term paper on an attempt to identify and characterize the concepts of home and belonging in postcolonial literature Comparing how the idea of home and belonging is presented in the novels White Teeth by Zadie Smith and Small Island by Andrea Levy I have tried a text extrinsic approach Furthermore I have analysed the authors' intentions with regard to the time of publication and the time of the narrative However the main aspect of my analyses is which concepts of home and belonging exist and which of them can be found in the novels of my comparison I have chosen White Teeth because it is a novel that deals with the colonial past and the postcolonial present and I have selected Small Island because it is a novel that deals with migration in the past Small Island is set at the beginning of migration when many colonized people came to England Andrea Levy presents different views the White and Black British point of view at the beginning of migration My motivation to compare both novels is to go back to the beginning of colonial migration and to show the difference between the concepts from the past to the present 1 John McLeod Beginning Postcolonialism Manchester New York Manchester University Press 2000 p 210 2 Zadie Smith White Teeth London Penguin Books 2001 Making Words Matter Ambreen Hai, 2009-08-11 Why should Salman Rushdie describe his truth telling as an act of swallowing impure haram flesh from which the blood has not been drained Why should Rudyard Kipling cast Kim the imperial child agent as a body text written upon and damaged by empire Why should E M Forster evoke through the Indian landscape the otherwise unspeakable racial or homosexual body in his writing In Making Words Matter The Agency of Colonial and Postcolonial Literature Ambreen Hai argues that these writers focus self reflectively on the unstable capacity of words to have material effects and to be censored and that this central concern with literary agency is embedded in indeed definitive of colonial and postcolonial literature Making Words Matter contends that the figure of the human body is central to the self imagining of the text in the world because the body uniquely concretizes three dimensions of agency it is at once the site of autonomy instrumentality and subjection Hai's work exemplifies a new trend in postcolonial studies to combine aesthetics and politics and to offer a historically and theoretically informed mode of interpretation that is sophisticated lucid and accessible This is the first study to identify and examine the rich convergence of issues and to chart their dynamic Hai opens up the field of postcolonial literary studies to fresh questions engaging knowledgeably with earlier scholarship and drawing on interdisciplinary theory to read both well known and lesser known texts in a new light It should be of interest internationally to students and scholars in a variety of fields including British Victorian modernist colonial or postcolonial literary studies queer or cultural studies South Asian studies history and anthropology Postcolonial Literatures in Context Julie Mullaney, 2010-04-15 This book presents an introduction to key issues involved in the study of postcolonial literature including diasporas postcolonial nationalisms indigenous identities and politics and globalization This book also contains a chapter on afterlives and adaptations that explores a range of wider cultural texts including film non fiction and art

Postcolonial Literature and the United States: Race, Ethnicity, and Literature, Probing essays that examine critical issues surrounding the United States's ever expanding international cultural identity in the postcolonial era Download Plain Text version At the beginning of the twenty first century we may be in a transnational moment increasingly aware of the ways in which local and national narratives in literature and elsewhere cannot be conceived apart from a radically new sense of shared human histories and global interdependence To think transnationally about literature history and culture requires a study of the evolution of hybrid identities within nation states and diasporic identities across national boundaries Studies addressing issues of race ethnicity and empire in U S culture have provided some of the most innovative and controversial contributions to recent scholarship Postcolonial Theory and the United States Race Ethnicity and Literature represents a new chapter in the emerging dialogues about the importance of borders on a global scale This book collects nineteen essays written in the 1990s in this emergent field by both well established and up and coming scholars Almost all the essays have been either especially written for this volume or revised for inclusion here These essays are accessible well focused resources for college and university students and their teachers displaying both historical depth and theoretical finesse as they attempt close and lively readings The anthology includes more than one discussion of each literary tradition associated with major racial or ethnic communities Such a gathering of diverse complementary and often competing viewpoints provides a good introduction to the cultural differences and commonalities that comprise the United States today The volume opens with two essays by the editors first a survey of the ideas in the individual pieces and second a long essay that places current debates in U S ethnicity and race studies within both the history of American studies as a whole and recent developments in postcolonial theory Amritjit Singh a professor of English and African American studies at Rhode Island College is coeditor of Conversations with Ralph Ellison and Conversations with Ishmael Reed both from University Press of Mississippi Peter Schmidt a professor of English at Swarthmore College is the author of The Heart of the Story Eudora Welty's Short Fiction University Press of Mississippi Colonialism-postcolonialism Ania Loomba, 1998 The Relatively New Field Of Post Colonial Studies Is Surrounded By A Great Deal Of Excitement Confusion And Scepticism This Volume Provides A Vital Introduction To The Historical Dimensions And Theretical Concepts Associated With Colonial And Postcolonial Discourse Though The Study Does Not Attempt To Cover Every Major Thinker Event Or Controversy It Will Stimulate And Enable To Explore And To Critique Further Afield And Is Thus A Must For Any Student Needing To Come To

Terms With This Crucial And Complex Area Postcolonial Poetics Elleke Boehmer, 2019-07-25 Post-Colonial Studies: The Key Concepts Bill Ashcroft, Gareth Griffiths, Helen Tiffin, 2013-06-26 This hugely popular A Z guide provides a comprehensive overview of the issues which characterize post colonialism explaining what it is where it is encountered and the crucial part it plays in debates about race gender politics language and identity For this third edition over thirty new entries have been added including Cosmopolitanism Development Fundamentalism Nostalgia Post colonial cinema Sustainability Trafficking World Englishes Post Colonial Studies The Key Concepts remains an essential guide for anyone studying this vibrant field Friends and Enemies Chris Bongie, 2008-01-01 This timely contribution to debates about the future of postcolonial theory explores the troubled relationship between politics and the discipline both in the sense of the radical political changes associated with the anti colonial struggle and the implication of literary writers in institutional discourses of power Using Haiti as a key example Chris Bongie explores issues of commemoration and commodification of the post colonial by pairing early nineteenth century Caribbean texts with contemporary works An apt volume for an age that struggles with the reality of memories of anti colonial resistance Friends and Enemies is a provocative take on postcolonial scholarship Beyond the Borders Deborah L. Madsen, 2003-08-20 This book challenges the boundaries of postcolonial theory Focusing on American literature it examines how America s own imperial history has shaped the literature that has emerged from America from Native American Latino Black and Asian American writers They contrast this with postcolonial literature from countries whose history has been shaped by American colonialism from Canada Central America and the Caribbean to Hawaii Indonesia and Vietnam It explores questions about national identity and multiculturalism why for instance is a Native writer categorised within American literature if writing on one side of the border but as Canadian and postcolonial if writing on the other This is a challenging collection that raises questions not only about the boundaries of postcolonial theory but also about ethnicity and multiculturalism and the impact of immigration and assimilation Shades of Empire in Colonial and Post-colonial Literatures C. C. Barfoot, Theo d'. Haen, 1993 The scope of the articles in Shades of Empire in Colonial and Post Colonial Literatures which are arranged in a broad sweep from East to West with four short papers nestled in the middle on the theme of colonialism and motherhood is extensive and varied But in one way or another they all reflect the growing importance of literatures and cultures that might once have been regarded as marginal During the colonial period the literature of the centre took possession of the margin as well as of the imagination of the margin But only recently has the question been raised as to why traditional English literary history has paid so little attention to colonial literature Now post colonial literatures are writing themselves back into the centre and what used to be the margins of the English language world have now set themselves up as rival centres An interesting question to arise from this is whether in the process the former colonial or colonizing literature has now itself turned into a post colonial literature What this book affirms is the importance and interest of a wide variety of literatures sharing a language but reflecting a rich and provocative diversity of histories experiences and attitudes to the shared world which still also divides us Postcolonial Literature

Dave Gunning, 2013-09-05 Introduces postcolonial literary studies through close readings of a wide range of fiction and poetry This guide places the literary works themselves at the centre of its discussions examining how writers from Africa Australasia the Caribbean Canada Ireland and South Asia have engaged with the challenges that beset postcolonial societies Dave Gunning discusses many of the most studied works of postcolonial literature from Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart to Salman Rushdie's The Satanic Verses as well as works by more recent writers like Chris Abani Tahmima Anam and Shani Mootoo Each chapter explores a key theme through drawing together works from various times and places The book concludes with an extensive guide to further reading and tips on how to write about postcolonial literature successfully
