A Postcard History of the Passenger Liner Christopher Deakes, 2023-10-01 From around 1880 for almost a hundred years shipowners commissioned a wealth of paintings that depicted their magnificent liners as well as the routes they travelled their exotic destinations and life onboard These paintings rich in imagination and atmosphere appeared on postcards and posters of the day and were used to advertise the companies and their ships and so was born a whole genre that produced tens of thousands of paintings which formed a wonderful record of the great era of the passenger liner In 1900 there were over thirty shipping companies operating passenger liners across the North Atlantic Other oceans were similarly served But now with just a few exceptions the companies and their liners have disappeared along with the art they once inspired Little remains to recall this aspect of our maritime past except the postcards and they tell an evocative story of the vanished world of elegant ships and leisurely travel of social and political times much changed by the history of the past century Here brought vividly to life in more than 500 colourful postcards are the ships on which so many of our predecessors sailed as emigrants soldiers administrators or simply as tourists in days long past These cards which are now highly collectable show how steamships developed over the years but they are also a fine tribute to the artists who painted them This volume also includes a glossary of some 170 illustrators which forms an important reference section and advice on collecting

American Woman Suffrage Postcards Kenneth Florey, 2016-04-29 American women's suffrage activists were fascinated with suffrage themed postcards They collected them exchanged them wrote about them used them as fundraisers and organized postcard day campaigns The cards they produced were imaginative and ideological advancing arguments for the enfranchisement of women and responding to antisuffrage broadsides Commercial publishers were also interested in suffrage cards recognizing their profit potential Their products though were reactive rather than proactive conveying stereotypes they assumed reflected public attitudes often negative towards the movement Cataloging approximately 700 examples this study examines the visual rhetoric of suffrage postcards in the context of the movement itself and as part of the general history of postcards American Book Publishing Record ,2005 Union County River Towns Jeannette Lasansky,2011 High ridges and lush valleys teeming with natural resources abutted Union County s river towns of Allenwood White Deer New Columbia West Milton and Winfield Creeks emptying into the Susquehanna River connected gristmills and communities like Spring Garden to their river neighbors Narrow gauge railroad lines brought excursions from White Deer to Tea Springs and men and lumber to operations run by lumber barons The Reading Railroad ran beside the Susquehanna but other lines crossed it establishing West Milton as a railroad hub Central Oak Heights and Devitt s Camp perched above West Milton Allenwood and Spring Garden while groves and islands at the river s edge were dotted with rustic camps In the mid 20th century a new Route 15 altered most of these towns streetscapes as World War II took the town of Alvira and area farmlands by eminent domain for explosives production Through vintage photographs Union County River Towns chronicles the rich history and evolution of this former frontier land Missouri Historical Review Francis Asbury Sampson,2007-04
