The Economics of Defense Industry

Thomas-Durell Young, 2023-10-17 This book on the economics of defence industry assesses a series of historical and contemporary case studies that consistently demonstrate the need for governments to recognise and thereafter factor the financial needs of a narrow industrial sector that is capital intensive technologically advanced and that requires a highly skilled labour force Since the end of the cold war Western governments have systematically reduced financial support to their domestic defence industry and have seemingly ignored planning and funding industrial mobilisation In all cases government policy has been to encourage industries to consolidate capacity to become financially viable in a sector that has seen diminished demand The 2022 Russian invasion of Ukraine has caused Western governments to reassess their previous assumptions Efforts to increase industrial capacity have been met with the iron laws of economics whereby businesses need to show return on investments The chapters in this volume posit that efforts to rationalise industrial capacity and innovation to meet short term financial efficiencies inevitably results in limited expensive and long delays in increased production in times of international crisis This book serves as an essential guide for academics researchers and students interested in defence economics industrial economics international relations and industrial policy The chapters in this book were originally published in various issues of Defense Security Analysis

Combined Arms Warfare in the Twentieth Century Jonathan Mallory House, 2001 For centuries the world has witnessed the development and use of increasingly complex and powerful military systems and technologies In the process the art of war has truly become the art of combined arms warfare in which infantry artillery air support intelligence and other key elements are all coordinated for maximum effect Nowhere has this trend been more visible than in the history of twentieth century warfare Originally published as an essential in house study for U S Army officers during the 1980s this much revised and expanded edition remains the most complete study available on the subject Rewritten with a much wider readership in mind it both retains its enormous practical utility for military professionals and provides a valuable and appealing introduction for scholars and general readers Jonathan House author of the original work brings the story of combined arms up to the present covering among other things Desert Storm the war in Chechnya and the rise of smart weapons and related technologies He traces the evolution of tactics weapons and organization in five major militaries American British German Russian and French over 100 years of warfare Revealing both continuities and contrasts within and between these fighting forces he also provides illuminating glimpses of Israeli and Japanese contributions to combined arms doctrine Expanding his insightful analysis of the world wars and the wars in Korea and Vietnam House also offers much new material focused on the post Vietnam period Throughout he analyzes such issues as command and control problems of highly centralized organizations the development of special operations forces advances in weapons technology including ballistic and anti ballistic missile systems the trade offs involved in using heavy versus light armed forces and the enduring obstacles to effective cooperation between air and land forces His strong critique of the air superiority propaganda that came out of the Gulf War is sure to spark some heated debates Rigorously comparative House s

Wagner, 1990 The fog of war is inevitably followed by the fog of analysis This has certainly been true of the most important military conflict of the post Cold War era the Gulf War between Iraq and the allied coalition led by the United States A variety of studies of this conflict have appeared many within just months of the end of hostilities and many with the obvious weaknesses resulting from the rush to publish Now in this fourth volume of the acclaimed Lessons of Modern War series military analyst Anthony H Cordesman with defense consultant Abraham R Wagner has produced what must be considered the definitive study of the Gulf War Anthony Cordesman draws careful conclusions based on extensive research from a wide variety of sources including newly declassified documents official military reports informal review and commentary by U S military services and British French Egyptian and Saudi officers interviews and field research in Saudi Arabia Kuwait and southern Iraq as well as Cordesman's own firsthand observations of the unfolding battle for Kuwait in his capacity as military analyst for ABC News and a year of research on the war as fellow at the Wilson Center Abraham Wagner contributes his unique experience in intelligence and command and control issues The book examines in unprecedented detail the efforts of all the members of the coalition not just the United States The authors are careful to distinguish between the general lessons about warfare that can be drawn from the Gulf War and those that are unique to this conflict Throughout the book the authors offer enough data to enable the reader to consider alternatives to Cordesman and Wagner's own highly authoritative conclusions The many lessons presented in this book cover the whole range of political strategic tactical technical and human elements of this conflict The authors analysis is based on the dynamic interaction of all of these factors not just static bean counting The central lesson is that this highly complex web of human and technological developments has resulted in a new military revolution of profound significance for the history of modern war Lessons of Modern War Volume IV The Gulf War explodes many myths offers sometimes controversial conclusions and is essential reading for anyone concerned about the revolution in military affairs peacekeeping Gulf and energy security issues and the new but still dangerous world in which we live Combat Helicopters Since 1942 Kenneth Munson, Alec Lumsden, 1986 The Economic and Budget Outlook ,1996 Attack Helicopters Howard A.
