Bioterrorism J. V. Borrelli,2007 A bioterrorism attack is the deliberate release of viruses bacteria or other germs agents used to cause illness or death in people animals or plants These agents are typically found in nature but it is possible that they could be changed to increase their ability to cause disease make them resistant to current medicines or to increase their ability to be spread into the environment Biological agents can be spread through the air through water or in food Terrorists may use biological agents because they can be extremely difficult to detect and do not cause illness for several hours to several days Some bioterrorism agents like the smallpox virus can be spread from person to person and some like anthrax can not This new book presents new analyses on the prevention of preparedness for and protection from Combating Terrorism United States. General Accounting Office,2001 Homeland Security United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions,2002 Combating Terrorism ,2001 Bioterrorism Reader

Arthur P. Rogers, 2002 The anthrax murders in the US and discoveries of biological weapon plans in Africa served as a wake up call too late as usual that biological weapons might actually be a weapon of mass destruction Their small size but highly deadly nature adds to the fear factor The reality of this potential danger to the US population found both the federal government as well as state government clueless This new book presents analyses of the actions planned or already carried out in the battle against the threat of bioterrorism and offers frank analyses of our current state of preparedness or lack thereof
