Contemporary English Literacy Level:

Contemporary English Language Teaching and Research Mariusz Marczak, 2015-10-05 As the English language has spread around the globe and the English teaching industry has expanded so interest in the theory behind the methods of teaching and curiosity regarding innovative classroom techniques have also grown Recently advances in technology have had a major impact on the way teachers at all levels work as has the greater interest in the learner as an individual This book provides detailed insight into both of these forces Contemporary English Language Teaching and Research will appeal both to researchers in the field since it contains a number of new and exciting studies as well as reflections on the research process itself and to language teachers both those practising and those in training who wish to keep abreast of the latest developments in teaching techniques and understanding of learners The book provides a snapshot of today's research environment in the field of teaching and learning English as a foreign language It brings together work from established academics and young researchers with a wide variety of classroom teaching experience and an equally wide range of perspectives and priorities

Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts Diane Lapp, Douglas Fisher, 2011-01-18 Now in its third edition the Handbook of Research on Teaching the English Language Arts sponsored by the International Reading Association and the National Council of Teachers of English offers an integrated perspective on the teaching of the English language arts and a comprehensive overview of research in the field Prominent scholars researchers and professional leaders provide historical and theoretical perspectives about teaching the language arts focus on bodies of research that influence decision making within the teaching of the language arts explore the environments for language arts teaching reflect on methods and materials for instruction Reflecting important recent developments in the field the Third Edition is restructured updated and includes many new contributors More emphasis is given in this edition to the learner multiple texts learning and sharing one's knowledge A Companion Website new for this edition provides PowerPoint slides highlighting the main points of each chapter

Contemporary English-Language Indian Children's Literature Michelle Superle, 2011-05-09 Concurrent with increasing scholarly attention toward national children's literatures Contemporary English language Indian Children's Literature explores an emerging body of work that has thus far garnered little serious critical attention Superle critically examines the ways Indian children's writers have represented childhood in relation to the Indian nation Indian cultural identity and Indian girlhood From a framework of postcolonial and feminist theories children's novels published between 1988 and 2008 in India are compared with those from the United Kingdom and North America from the same period considering the differing ideologies and the current textual constructions of childhood at play in each Broadly Superle contends that over the past twenty years an aspirational view of childhood has developed in this literature a view that positions children as powerful participants in the project of enabling positive social transformation Her main argument formed after recognizing several overarching thematic and structural patterns in more than one hundred texts is that the novels comprise an aspirational literature with a transformative agenda they imagine apparently empowered child characters who perform in diverse ways in the process of successfully creating and shaping the ideal Indian nation their own well adjusted bicultural identities in the diaspora and or their own empowered girlhoods Michelle Superle is a Professor in the department of Communications at Okanagan College She has taught children s literature composition and creative writing courses at various Canadian universities and has published articles in Papers and IRCL
